"I know not if this tale be true.
But thus the simple facts are stated"—

* * * *

The miners take their picks in hand,
And re-commence to dig;
Miss Talley breaks into the "grand,"
And puts it over big.
Throngs wait in line to hear her sing,
This simple little dame,
About her head their garlands fling,
And this, they say, is Fame!

* * * *

It takes a lot of different capers,
To get one's name now in the papers.
The Countess Vera gets the gate!
Fame's but another name for Fate.

* * * *

Thus we proclaim from every steeple,
We are a highly moral people.
How virtuous it is to be Wrapped up in smug hypocrisy!
Why pray to Heaven any more,
When we can all be good by law?
We had to throw her out, of course!
Ah! here's a spicy new divorce.

* * * *

Want a new one, very shocking?
Scandal at Palm Beach!
Lady bather wore no stocking!
(Must have been a peach)
Call the censor! call the cop!
Immorality must stop!

* * * *

Bergdoll wears a gun and knife,
Lives at ease in clover;
Mobilized for any strife—
Now the war is over.

* * * *

If industry you would lamp,
Watch the Senate use its stamp.

* * * *

Perhaps it is merely a coincidence, that after learning that women bathers at Palm Beach are compelled by law to wear stockings, Secretary of Labor Davis ordered the deportation of the Countess Cathcart, and hastily donning his new Spring halo, caught the first train for Florida.

* * * *

* * * *

An avalanche of snow sweeps down a Utah mountainside and all but wipes out a little mining settlement, burying men, women and children, and taking a toll of 57 lives. In her job of completing the world Mother Nature uses all her instruments from earthquakes down with scant regard for the human beings who get in her way.

On the other hand, a $75,000 jewelry robbery over in New York is routine and liable to go into a waste basket if the crime wave continues much longer.

The War Department's reprimand to two air service majors for giving information to Congress looks like another red rag waved at an already angry bull.

* * * *

The proposal that Uncle Sam buy up the whole visible supply of liquor in the country—at bootleg prices that would break him—seems to be based on the theory that everybody ought to pay for his own law.

The G. A. R. appears to have forgotten that the hatreds engendered by the civil war are buried forever in a common grave on the Marne, that the Unknown Soldier may be the son of one who fought with Lee.

U. S. LIKELY TO BUY ALL LIQUOR STOCKS NOW HELD IN BOND

Sweeping Changes Are Urged to Dam Flow of Medicinal Whisky.

OFFICIALS FOR FULL GOVERNMENT RULE

Called One Way of Enforcing Dry Law — Distillers to Meet Here.

By JOHN EDWIN NEVIN.

Sweeping changes in the prohibition enforcement law which officials say must stop the flood of medicinal liquor now going into the hands of the bootleggers, are impending.

The biggest is expected to be the purchase by the government of all the stocks of liquor now in the concentration and private wholesale liquor warehouses. That has been the one plan which has been advocated by many of the law enforcement organizations in the United States ever since the real fight between the wets and the drys was initiated as the only certain way of making prohibition effective.

Carried out, it would give the government absolute control of all medicinal whisky in the country. The stock then could be dispensed in channels that always would be under scrutiny. It would remove, its proponents declare, the biggest source of bootleg supplies available, and would permit the enforcement agencies to concentrate on the alcohol situation.

Approved by Andrews.

The plan is claimed to have the approval of Brig. Gen. Lincoln C. Andrews, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury. He has talked with his field agents in every section of the country about the best manner of controlling the medicinal whisky market. It has been agreed by them, according to reports here, that the only way this can be done is to have the government itself take over title to all whisky and dispense it through the drugstores along such carefully regulated lines that at all times it will be possible for the enforcement agencies to place their finger on every amount marketed.

The reports that the administration and the dry leaders are to demand further changes in the law, have resulted in a call being issued for a meeting in this city next week, of representatives of the leading distilling interests in the country. According to the reports last night, nearly all the larger concerns are to be represented.

It is estimated that the available supply of medicinal whisky now in the warehouses totals from 15,000,000 to 20,000,000 gallons both on certificate and in storage. A survey of the stocks has been made and the cost figures are known to the

Discarded Sign Presents Knotty Traffic Problem

If a motorist can not pass a street car when it is moving nor when it is stationary, when can he pass it?

This puzzle was submitted to the District commissioners in a letter yesterday by Kepler Hoyt, an employe in the comptroller general's office. Mr. Hoyt said there is a traffic sign on Nineteenth street northwest south of Pennsylvania avenue reading: "Do not pass standing or moving street cars."

He said he asked a policeman for the answer to his query, and the bluecoat said:

"It's beyond me, brother."

I. C. Moller, assistant traffic director, said the sign was one of a number of old ones inherited by the traffic department when it was created a year ago and that they had been ordered taken down three months ago.

BREAK SEEN BETWEEN G. A. R. AND OLD ENEMY

Union Army Veterans Move to Oppose Restoration of Lee Mansion.

INTRODUCE BLOCKING BILL

Beneath the surface of cordial relations a rupture, born of their enmities 60 years ago, has developed between Union and Confederate veterans of the civil war, it was learned yesterday.

The Grand Army of the Republic has moved to prevent the restoration of the Lee mansion in Arlington National cemetery to its antebellum condition. The restoration is sought by the Confederate veterans and other Southern patriotic organizations. A bill to this end has been introduced by Senator Pepper, of Pennsylvania.

At the instance of the G. A. R., Senator Dale, of Vermont, yesterday introduced a bill which would make the mansion a museum for "trophies and emblems of the Union army and navy."

Senator Dale said he merely introduced the measure at the request of the G. A. R., and that it was designed to prevent the restoration of the home. His bill would provide that the superintendent of the cemetery may continue to occupy as much of the mansion as he needs for quarters until other quarters are provided, and the remainder of the building shall be used as the museum.

When he vacates the building all of it must be used as a museum. The bill specifically provides also for the retention of Lincoln's flag in front of the home.

Throughout, Senator Dale's bill refers to the mansion as the "Custis" home with no reference to the Confederate chieftain.

Soviet Police Kill 9 in Church Crowd

(Special Cable Dispatch.)

Riga, Feb. 17.—The Moscow Isvestia reports that a detachment of state political police fired on a crowd at Voronezh which had congregated before the cathedral, awaiting their turn to view a sacred picture which was reported to be illuminated by a mysterious light. The soldiers killed nine persons and wounded fifteen. Most of those killed were women.

Attacked by Coyote, Chokes It to Death

Lakeside, Nebr., Feb. 17 (By A. P.).—A hunger-stricken coyote paid with its life when it attacked Joe Possa and a woman companion. Joe choked it to death.

For some time the coyotes, forced into boldness because heavy snow has made their food supply scarce, have been desperate.

President Has Cold, But Walks Outdoors

(By the Associated Press.)

Suffering from a heavy cold, President Coolidge canceled a majority of his engagements yesterday and retired to the executive mansion to rest, but later in the day returned to his office to dispose of accumulating routine business.

The President's indispostion appeared to have yielded to treatment and assurance was given at the White House that there was no cause for alarm over his condition. Just before dark he took a stroll half way around the White House grounds, wearing the topcoat which he often has discarded on previous walks when the weather was much more chilly.

MISS TALLEY WINS TRIUMPH OF SEASON IN OPERATIC DEBUT

American Prima Donna, 19, Captures Crowd From First Note.

10,000 FIGHT POLICE IN EFFORT TO ENTER

20 Recalls After Final Curtain Given Kansas City Girl in Metropolitan.

New York, Feb. 17 (By A. P.).—Marion Talley, 19-year-old Kansas City, Mo., singer, tonight swept to triumph in her debut on the boards of the Metropolitan Opera house.

While 10,000 persons stormed the doors of the historic house unable to gain admittance, the singer received 20 curtain calls at the end of the opera from a capacity audience that included 178 friends and relatives from her home town. As she finished the famous aria "Caro Nome," in her role as Gilda in "Rigoletto," the former choir singer received nine curtain calls as the audience held up the performance.

At a reception held by the Kansas City delegation on the stage after the opera, Otto H. Kahn, chairman of the board of directors of the opera company, congratulated Miss Talley for her wonderful showing, and expressed firm belief in her future.

"I congratulate Kansas City," he said, "because citizens have been like the wise patrons of the renaissance who gave material backing when talent was not wanting. "Lastly, I congratulate us of the Metropolitan because we guessed right three years ago when a slip of a girl stood before us in audition and sang to us for the first time."

Captures Her Audience.

Miss Talley captured the audience with her first appearance. The applause that greeted her entrance caused her to stop as if in surprise, and bow. As she started the duet with De Luca playing the title role —"Quant dolor," her face took on a rapt expression, and she obviously forgot her audience entirely.

Looking like a little child masquerading as a grown up, in a gown of turquoise velvet that changed her plumpness to soft curves and brought out the freshness of her complexion and the blue of her eyes, Miss Talley entered upon her difficult score without the slightest hesitation or show of nervousness.

The rounds of applause at this point brought forth embarrassed little girl nods instead of bows. Quickly, as if annoyed that the business at hand was being delayed needlessly, she turned to De Luca and started their second duet: "T'Amo."

Trills Delight Throng.

Again applause stopped her. Again she acknowledged with calm pleasure.

Then she swung into Gilda's great aria, "Caro nome," soaring into the coloratura trills with an ease that delighted the packed house. With the orchestra muted she entered on the beauty of the cadenza.

The audience was hushed until the last flute-like note had died out,

JUDGE RELEASES 3 MEN HELD IN PETEET CASE

U. S. TIGHTENS BORDER

Tia Juana, Mexico, Feb. 17 (By A. P.).—Judge S. Urias, of the Tia Juana court of the first instance, refused today to indict on murder charges any of the seven men under arrest in connection with the suicides of four members of the Peteet family, but he indicted four of them on charges of attacking the two daughters, Clyde and Audrey, and ordered the other three men discharged from custody.

Luis M. Amador, proprietor of the Oakland bar, was indicted on two counts, for violating and attacking Clyde Peteet; Refugio Alvarez, bartender, one count, attacking Clyde; Zenaido Llanos, former chief of police, two counts, violating and attacking Audrey Peteet; Francisco Gonzales, former member of the police force, one count, concealing crime.

The prosecution will ask that the full penalty of 15 years be imposed in case of conviction.

Salvador Espinoza, a taxicab driver; P. Juan York Sang, manager of the Nacional hotel, and Francisco Narvarro, bartender, were freed.

(By the Associated Press.)

Assistant Secretary Andrews of the Treasury yesterday ordered the international barrier at Tia Juana closed daily hereafter after 6 p. m. in an effort to curb some of the conditions alleged in the protests. His action followed a conference earlier in the day with Representative Swing (Republican), California, who had insisted that some action be taken to check participation in the night life of the Mexican resort, Tia Juana, by persons from the American side.

LABOR DEPARTMENT UPHOLDS EXCLUSION OF COUNTESS VERA

Her Attorneys Declare They Will Take Fight to Federal Courts.

19 YEARS' PRACTICE IS CITED IN DECISION

Davis' Departure for Florida Prevents Counsel Making Appeal to Him.

Vera, Countess of Cathcart, is ordered excluded from the United States, the Department of Labor having upheld an appeal late yesterday afternoon the decision of the Ellis island board of special inquiry to keep her out of the country.

It was announced last night that the countess' attorneys, Wilton J. Lambert, of this city, William A. DeFord and Arthur Garfield Hayes, New York, would institute habeas corpus proceedings in the New York Federal courts, the departure of Secretary of Labor Davis for Florida last night delaying their direct appeal to him. In event of a reversal, it was announced, an appeal will be taken to the circuit court of appeals.

The Labor Department's decision stated that the action against the countess was based on that part of section 3 of the immigration act of February 20, 1917, providing that among certain classes of aliens to be excluded are persons convicted of or admitting felonies or other crimes or misdemeanors involving moral turpitude. It stated that Countess Cathcart had admitted to the commission of such an offense, and, that being the case, her exclusion is mandatory under a practice of the department prevailing since 1907, when the provision was added to the general immigration law.

Many Others Excluded.

The report stated further that "during the past nineteen years considerable numbers of aliens have been excluded under this provision for admission of the same offense," as in the countess' case.

The decision concluded with the explanation that in considering immigration cases from boards of special inquiry at ports of arrival, the Secretary of Labor is bound to determine the question involved solely on the evidence submitted before these boards and that he can not exercise discretion.

Palm Beach in Grip Of Modesty Crusade

Palm Beach, Fla., Feb. 17 (By A. P.).—Palm Beach today was undergoing a crusade for modesty. Between the town council and the official bathing censor, local bathers faced the prospect of donning wraps on their journeys to their beaches.

The crusade began yesterday when four feminine bathers were requested to leave Casino Beach, where they appeared without stockings.

The town council has requested an attorney to draw up an ordinance to require bathers to wear wraps while on public streets. It also took cognizance of the bathing costumes, one member declaring the bathing code too lax and recommending greater efforts to keep the body covered.

Guinea Pigs' Revels Result in Dry Raid

New York, Feb. 17 (By A. P.).—The drunken revels of guinea pigs, used, Federal authorities said, to test the fitness for human consumption of alleged whisky and alcohol, led to the arrest today of Rudolph Gelb, proprietor, on a charge of illegal possession of liquor.

The liquor was found in a vacant apartment adjoining the grocery. A tenant of an adjoining apartment, unable to sleep because of the high wassail of the guinea pigs, entered an anonymous complaint.

2 AIR SERVICE OFFICERS WILL BE REPRIMANDED

Majs. Arnold and Dargue Are Found Culpable in Attempts to Influence Legislation.

FORMER TO QUIT CAPITAL

The War Department's decision yesterday to reprimand Majs. H. H. Arnold and H. A. Dargue, of the army air service, and to transfer the former from duty in Washington, ended the investigation to determine who in the air service was responsible "for the unauthorized attempts to influence legislation affecting the service."

Little surprise was expressed over the names of the officers who drew the reprimand, but in some quarters it was said that it had been thought a heavier penalty would be imposed. Maj. Arnold of whom Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, chief of the army air service, said "no longer wanted in my office," declared he had "nothing to say and lots of it," when asked if he contemplated resigning from the army.

Maj. Arnold is chief of the information section of Gen. Patrick's office and was found to be the most culpable of the officers involved. Maj. Dargue is chief of the war plans section of the air service. The name of Capt. Don Montgomery also is linked with the findings of the investigation, but as an officer of the reserve corps he is beyond Gen. Patrick's jurisdiction.

Berlin, Feb. 17 (By A. P.).—A Warsaw dispatch tells of the arrest of a "blue beard" murderer named Rutschuc, charged with killing 53 persons, mostly women and children and also a priest named Majewski.

Rutschuc is alleged to have confessed that he lured his victims into the woods and killed them.

2 BANDITS IN ALAMO FOILED BY A WOMAN

Locked in Room Where Bowie Died After Robbing Two Visitors.

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 17 (By A. P.).—Two hold-up men selected the historic Alamo, shrine of Texas liberty, for the scene of their activities late today and were trapped in the southwest room, the same room where Bowie was killed defending the building in the historic fight against the Mevicans. The men were held in the city jail tonight.

P. A. Paul, of Oklahoma City, and F. J. Bosshardt, of San Antonio, were viewing relics in the southwest room when Mrs. A. F. Small, custodian, noticed the iron door close. She sent her 10-year-old daughter, Louise, to investigate. The robbers slammed the door in the child's face, but not until she had seen a revolver drawn.

"Quick, mother, it's a holdup," she shouted.

Mrs. Small sent her daughter for a policeman and locked the door. A few minutes later Capt. Sam Street arrested the men and recovered money and jewelry which had been taken from Paul and Bosshardt.

57 LIVES ARE LOST UNDER AVALANCHE; MINE TOWN BURIED

Fire Adds to the Horror as Debris Burns Beneath Snow.

DEATH TOLL IN UTAH MAY MOUNT TO 75

Crushed Buildings, Rocks and Wreckage Carried Down Gulch for Two Miles.

Bingham, Utah, Feb. 17 (By A. P.).—Upwards of 57 lives were snuffed out when a snow slide thundering down the mountainside today buried the little Highland Boy mining settlement at the foot of Sap gulch, near here.

Twenty-eight bodies had been recovered tonight by rescue workers digging in the debris of the score of buildings destroyed.

Twenty-nine persons were listed by the Utah Delaware Mining Co. as missing and believed to have perished. This number may be increased, Frank A. Wardlaw, superintendent of the mining company, said, as he did not know how many others were in the buildings engulfed. It was feared the toll might mount to 75. Wardlaw and physicians said they had abandoned all hope of recovering any one alive from the ruins.

Fire added to the horror of the catastrophe, flames breaking out in the crushed buildings a few minutes after the avalanche struck.

Men, women and children were caught without warning when the avalanche struck the McDonald boarding house and a smaller one nearby conducted by a Mrs. Rimby. A small church and about 20 miners's cabins, lining both sides of the gulch, were buried or swept away. The boarding house and cabins, heated with stoves, caught fire as they were crushed in the snow slide. Many of the victims were terribly burned and identification of the bodies was extremely difficult.

Crushed Like Shells.

Virtually the entire first shift of the Utah-Delaware mine was coming off duty when the slide swept the gulch sides clean and filled it with debris. It was with a sudden, thundering roar that the slide tore down the mountain side, said persons outside its path. As the mass gravitated down, houses that had glistened in the snow caved in like eggshells and became a part of the moving mass.

Rescue crews plied their shovels in limited areas that had been roped off. Their efforts were speeded up late today as the fires died down under the mass of snow. The avalanche is believed to have been the result of unusually "wet" character of the snow that had been falling for 48 hours, adding fourteen inches to previous snows on the surrounding heights.

Sap Gulch, a mile from here, is one of several off-shoot gulches clustered about this city of 4,000 population, which is noted for the largest "open" copper ore mine in the world, that of the Utah Copper Co. The distance to Salt Lake City is 18 miles.

The snowslide swept two miles down the gulch before it overwhelmed the little mining camp at the mountain base. There was little warning of the approaching doom.

As each building was swept from its foundations the avalanche seemed to gather momentum, according to Ed Larson, a miner, who heard the rumbling of the approaching pile of snow and debris from one of the windows of the McDonald boarding house. Larson shouted a warning to the sleeping miners, who, a short time before had gone off shift, threw one man out of a window and himself followed. Both men escaped with only a few scratches.

Woman Among Missing.

The three story boarding house, conducted by Mrs. James McDonald, was the last building to be demolished and the avalanche came to a stop at the back door of the office building of the Highland Boy mine, of the Utah-Delaware Mining Co., a subsidiary of the Anaconda Copper Co.

It was in the boarding house that the greatest loss of life occurred. More than half a hundred miners were asleep in the building. Few if any, aside from Larson and the unidentified man he threw from the window, escaped. Mrs. McDonald,

CITIZENS' GROUPS BACK WATER-FRONT PLANS

Several Societies Indorse the Project of Southwest Association for Beautification.

Indorsement of its waterfront beautification campaign by other associations was received last night by the Southwest Citizens association at a meeting held in the Fairbrother school. Letters from other societies, lauding the efforts of the association and offering assistance in the campaign to clean up the water front were read by George M. Yeatman, president of the association.

The association nominated Robert Strobel, who is active in civic affairs, as its candidate for the citizens' advisory council.

Delegates to the federation were instructed to fight for the election of Mr. Strobel, but were left uninstructed as to their actions in voting for the other members of the council. Following the meeting the members inspected the school exhibit for the National Education association convention.

ERROR AND SEA CAUSE OF BUCKLING OF ORION

Mishap Throws No Light on Disappearance of Cyclops, Board Says.

The buckling of the hull of the Orion December 2 off Hampton Roads, Va., was caused by an extraordinarily heavy sea and an error in judgment by the navigating officer, it is shown in the report of the board of inquiry now in channels at the Navy Department.

It was thought at first that the buckling of the collier's hull might shed some light upon the mysterious disappearance of its sister ship, the Cyclops, which vanished in the world war. These findings, disclosed yesterday, are of no value in this respect, however, it is assured.

Findings of the court are that the ship's hull was damaged from pounding upon bottom while proceeding outside of Norfolk. The navigator had rounded one buoy, which in ordinary weather would have been a proper turning point, but which in the weather encountered proved too far inshore. The vessel was not aground, but pounded when it came down in the troughs of the heavy sea.

Police Say Prisoner Admits Store Thefts

Howard was arrested with a large bag of groceries under each arm at Twenty-first street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest, and is alleged by police to have confessed to robbing a store at 2128 Pennsylvania avenue northwest.

Howard is said to have implicated Aloysius Nelson, now serving a term in the District jail. Other stores Howard is alleged to have confessed to robbing are those at 5315 Ninth street northwest, 3048 N street northwest and 3110 N street northwest.

EDUCATION BOARD SHUNS BLAME FOR BAD SCHOOLS

Charges Commissioners and Congress Do Not Provide Enough Funds.

CITES BUDGET REDUCTION

The board of education yesterday confirmed the general accuracy of criticism that many District school buildings are in poor condition and, simultaneously, proclaimed its futility.

Responsibility, school officials declared, rested with Congress and the District commissioners, both of whom had refused to grant funds requested by the board to correct defects in the schools.

The $550,000 requested for repairs for next year had been cut by the District commissioners and the budget bureau to $475,000 before the estimates were sent to Congress, Dr. Frank W. Ballou, superintendent of schools, declared. The amount the board had requested represented just half of the $1,100,000 needed to make repairs disclosed as needed by a careful school-to-school inspection, he said.

Discussion was precipitated by Charles F. Carusi, board member, who declared he intended to push consideration of the question until responsibility for conditions was definitely fixed and "those responsible have to accept their responsibility."

Admitting that many needed repairs will not be made because of lack of funds, Ernest Greenwood, former chairman of the board's buildings committee, declared he did not believe insanitary conditions were as prevalent as was inferred by the report of Representative Mary T. Norton to the House District committee. "If they were," he said, "we undoubtedly would have heard more about them."

"Lots of buildings have been declared unsafe," Mr. Greenwood declared in response to a question from Mr. Carusi. "The fire department has made several objections to many school buildings. Correction of fire hazards in conformity with recommendations of the fire chief has been the first thing done with repair funds."

"We tried to abandon one school, the Langdon, described as the greatest fire menace, but when we came to do it, the District engineer commissioner and the fire department declared there was not sufficient reason to abandon it," Dr. Ballou interjected.

"We can never get authority to go so far as to order abandonment of a school building on the definite recommendation of District officials. There's always an 'if'," Mr. Greenwood said.

"Well, we can fix responsibility for improper conditions, such as housing small children in frame school buildings, and I propose we do it," Mr. Carusi said.

E. C. Graham, president of the board, proposed preparation of a special report summarizing conditions to be submitted to the board by Dr. Ballou, and it was agreed to.

Discussion of conditions of buildings followed consideration of a report by Garnet C. Wilkinson, assistant superintendent in charge of colored schools, absolving teachers and officers of Armstrong Technical High school of any positive responsibility for the recent strike of students there in protest against the demotion of Capt. Arthur C. Newman, former principal.

Mr. Wilkinson, however, had cited the principal, Charles M. Thomas and Miss Helen Crawford, sponsors of the student council, for lack of action which would have prevented the walkout.

The report was submitted without recommendation, and Dr. F. I. A. Bennett, board member, declared the board should take some action to punish those negligent. Dr. H. Barrett Learned, board member, joined in the declaration, and on his motion, Mr. Wilkinson was asked to submit to the board whatever recommendations he had to make.

PLANNING BILL STUDY IS URGED ON CITIZENS

Col. Bell Says Washingtonians Should Guard Against Certain Provisions.

Col. J. Franklin Bell, engineer commissioner, urged Washingtonians to familiarize themselves with the provisions of the city planning bill in a speech at the annual dinner of the Washington Transportation club in the Raleigh hotel last night. He said there were some things in the bill which Washingtonians would object to and they should guard themselves against them.

Representative Thomas L. Blanton, of Texas, also touched on this bill, saying that if he had known the feeling of the commissioners he could have blocked the bill in the House. He praised the lighting system on Sixteenth street and urged that the commissioners insist on Congress establishing similar lights on other main thoroughfares. He also said action should be taken against the city-to-city buses, which are untaxed and use the motor roads to compete with railroads.

Other speakers were Commissioner Frederick A. Fenning, Maj. William E. R. Covell, assistant engineer commissioner, and Odell S. Smith. Col. Walter V. Shipley, president of the society, was toastmaster. The entertainers were Gorge O'Connor, Matt Horne, Charlie Howser and the Colonial Male quartet.

W.R.T. Bus Revenues Increase 200 Per Cent

The Washington Rapid Transit Co.'s net revenues from operation of motorbuses in the District of Columbia last year increased more than 200 per cent over the profits of 1924, according to the annual report of that corporation for 1925, filed yesterday with the public utilities commission.

In 1924 the bus concern earned $16,735.78 more than the $12,000 paid for salaries of officers. Last year the return was $52,142.84, an increase of $35,407.06.

Passengers carried during the year totaled more than 5,000,000, of which 2,407,473 paid cash fares and 2,643,788 used tokens.

Meyer read from Macbeth. The A. S. S. quartet, composed of Miss Jeanne Dagneanais, Miss Dorotha Zukierelli, Morris Epstein and Jeno Kuhn, sang, accompanied by Mrs. Carle, pianist, and Oscar Levin, violinist.

MAN DROPS DAMAGE SUIT.

$25,000 Claim for Alleged Assault Settled Out of Court.

Albert F. Stouffer, of Takoma Park, Md., who sued Theodore Raines, Lawrence Waters, Arthur B. Purvis and Leroy B. Harmon for $25,000 damages for alleged assault and battery and caused the arrest and indictment of these defendants on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon, has settled his difficulties out of court.

The assault charges were nolle prossed yesterday in criminal court and Stouffer dismissed his civil suit in circuit court. The latter charged that his skull had been fractured and a sizeable piece of bone removed by an operation. A rock or some other blunt object was thrown at Stouffer, he said, on May 31 last at Georgia avenue and Piney Branch road.

BIBLE LIKELY HELP TO APHASIA VICTIM

Sufferer's Deep Knowledge of Book Expected to Lead to Identification.

Although he is unable to tell where he came from or where he was going, the aphasia sufferer at Emergency hospital displays a profound knowledge of the Bible. This fact, it is believed, may lead to his positive identification. He has said several times that he studied theology at Oberlin college.

The man, who was sent to the hospital after he was found in a daze at Union station, says he "thinks" he is Frederick McDonell. He is about 70 years old. An effort to identify him through Oberlin college will be made by J. M. Metcalf, secretary of the First Congregational church and a graduate of that school.

It was definitely established yesterday that the aphasia victim is not George M. Ross, a schoolmaster, who disappeared from Westboro, Mass., in October. A sister of Ross, Mrs. Ruth Ross Noel, 1325 Twenty-first street northwest, said he was not her brother.

Many Cases of Grippe Reported In Washington

Local People Urged to Use Vigorous Measures to Combat Further Spread of Deep Grippy Colds.

Pneumonia Chief Danger

Grippe Attacks Weaken Body's Resistance to Germs of Pneumonia —All Colds Should be Treated Promptly.

Deep grippy colds have been unusually prevalent here this winter. The situation is fairly general throughout the States. In some sections these colds are called "influenza," but the majority of health officers report that they are much milder than the original epidemic and resemble more closely the old-fashioned la grippe. They are usually accompanied by a headache or achy feeling over the body, "running of the nose," sneezing and frequently by gastric and intestinal complications such as hiccoughs, nausea, diarrhea, &c.

Colds are too often neglected until they have lowered the vitality sufficiently to permit the lurking germs, which cause pneumonia, bronchitis and influenza to attack the body.

Don't Take Chances.

The only safe plan is to attack a cold right at the beginning. A hot foot bath, a laxative, a sweat and a vigorous application of Vicks VapoRub at bedtime over throat and chest will often break up a cold over night.

For hours after Vicks is applied the vapors of camphor, menthol, eucalyptus, thyme and turpentine, released as vapors by the body heat, are inhaled directly into the infected air passages. At the same time it warms and stimulates the skin like a poultice, "drawing out" the soreness and pain.

It is an obstinate cold indeed that can resist this direct, double action.

Vicks Vapor Steam.

If the air passages are badly stopped up, try the "teakettle and tent" treatment. This method—fully explained in the directions—consists, briefly, of vaporizing Vicks in a teakettle and arranging a newspaper "tent" over the patient's head so that the combined warm steam and medicated vapors can be inhaled.

Mothers especially appreciate Vicks for the frequent colds of children, as it can be used freely and often, without disturbing the digestion—you "just rub it on." Over 21 million jars are used yearly.—Adv.

BOOTLEG ALCOHOL INQUIRY IS WIDENED TO 12 LARGE CITIES

More Than 1,000 Persons Are Mentioned by Federal Jury Witnesses.

ADDITIONAL WARRANTS ISSUED AT CLEVELAND

Irey Returns to That City After Getting Alleged Confessions in East.

Cleveland, Ohio, Feb. 17 (By A. P.).—The alleged nation-wide bootleg alcohol conspiracy under investigation by the Federal grand jury here has spread to at least twelve large cities and others may become involved.

The case is growing in magnitude so rapidly, United States Attorney A. E. Bernsteen declared today, that not even he would predict the outcome. About 1,000 persons have been mentioned by witnesses so far and arrests may reach 200, Bernsteen declared.

Persons in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, St. Paul, Atlantic City, Minneapolis, Duluth, Detroit, Baltimore, St. Louis, Chicago, Boston and Cleveland are involved, and it is likely that Columbus, Kansas City, New York, Newark, Providence and Milwaukee will be drawn in. More than a dozen additional St. Paul and Minneapolis men are said to have been implicated by St. Paul persons here to testify today.

E. L. Irey, chief of the intelligence bureau of the Department of Justice, has returned to Cleveland to take charge of the investigation. He is said to have brought additional confessions obtained in half a dozen Eastern cities, where the ring is reported to have operated.

"Higher Ups" Flee.

Several additional warrants were issued today, including one for a St. Paul man whose name was not divulged. George A. Golding, Federal investigator, reported that operatives are having difficulty in finding men sought. Many "higher ups," frightened by confessions of underlings, have escaped the cordon of Federal operatives.

Harry Volpe, Providence restauranteur, who was among the first of the 39 arrested in connection with activities of the Superior Industrial Alcohol Co., testified for two hours today. Volpe, authorities say, claims that a representative of the syndicate threatened to shoot him if he told of the alcohol ring's operations.

Breithart's Partner Sentenced as Forger

New York, Feb. 17 (By A. P.).—Exploitation of the fame of the late Sigmund Breithart, professional strong man, by impersonating him after his death last year, resulted today in the sentencing of Julius Kaufman for forgery. Kaufman, of huge stature, was once a partner with Breithart on the vaudeville stage. Judge Allen also directed that he be deported to Russia upon completing his sentence.

Kaufman opened a night club in this city, forging a draft on the Bank of England and defrauding the Central Mercantile Bank of New York of $2,000, which he used in furnishing the club.

LLOYD GEORGE LAND SCHEME IS ACCEPTED

Made Liberal Plank After the Various Amendments Are Defeated.

London, Feb. 17 (By A. P.).—The liberal party, through 1,500 delegates to the conference of the Liberal Associations of England and Wales, today gave general approval to Mr. Lloyd George's land scheme.

A resolution unanimously adopted stated that the time had arrived when the land system of Great Britain should be formed according to the general principles laid down by Mr. Lloyd George's plan, which provides for a drastic policy for dealing with the land problem through government control amounting to a monopoly of agricultural lands.

Mr. Lloyd George made a plea for unity on this important plank of the liberal platform. "Liberalism will not be bullied by the vested interests," he declared.

Many argued that the proposals amounted to socialism, and several resolutions dealing with the land scheme were carried only after amendments had been voted down.

Trooper Is Killed In New Jersey Raid

Mountain View, N. J., Feb. 17 (By A. P.).—Charles Ulrich, a State trooper, was killed at French Hill hotel here today while attempting to gather evidence, and his companion, Mathew McManus, was severely beaten with blackjacks. Samuel Alesi, hotel proprietor, was taken to St. Joseph's hospital, Paterson, and was believed dying from a bullet.

Ulrich and McManus arrived at the hotel about midnight in plain clothes and were recognized. Pulling their guns they ordered eight men to their feet and stood them against a wall. McManus went to a phone to summon help. While he was gone one of the eight men began shooting and Ulrich dropped after putting two bullets into Alesi.

Four Doomed to Die By Noose Get Delay

Chicago, Feb. 17 (By A. P.).—None of the four men sentenced to die on the gallows Friday will be hanged that day.

Sam Washington, negro murderer of his common-law wife, was granted a stay of execution today until April 23 to permit his attorney to present the case to the supreme court. Counsel for the negro said the necessary fund for fighting the case had been obtained by a group of church people.

The supreme court yesterday halted the hanging of Henry Fernekes, the "midget bandit," and two associates in the murder of the manager of a building and loan association.

Dresses for Evening Will Remain Long

New York, Feb. 17 (By A. P.).—"Evening dresses will remain long," Mme. Jeanne Lanvin, famous Paris fashion creator, who arrived today on the Aquitania, told a listening world. The listening world was a little surprised, as feminine New York has been wearing its evening dresses of every length, with shortness in the lead.

"Street costume will remain at its present skirt length," continued the famous arbiter, and the listening world was comforted. Mme. Lanvin added a rebuke.

"Black is not the entire mode," she said. "The mode is what is best fitting to the personality."

Mother Dies in Fire With Her 6 Children

Central Bridge, N. Y., Feb. 17 (By A. P.).—Mrs. Elizabeth B. Teale, 29, and six of her children were burned to death when fire destroyed their apartment early today. The father, Edward Teale, escaped with two broken arms and the oldest child, a daughter of 14, was uninjured. The fire is believed to have been caused by an overheated stove.

Teale, unable to force his way through the flames to his children, tried to drag his wife to safety. Mrs. Teale struggled successfully to go back to her children and perished.

Massachusetts House Rejects Beer Plea

Boston, Feb. 17 (By A. P.).—The Massachusetts house of representatives today refused to adopt a resolution by Senator John W. McCormick that Congress be memorialized in favor of the manufacture, sale, transportation and distribution of light wines and beer. The vote was 131 to 64. The State senate took similar action a few days ago.

NATIONAL LOTTERY SLIPS PAST FRENCH DEPUTIES

LEFT CARTEL TO YIELD

Paris, Feb. 17 (By A. P.).—The authorization of a national lottery was a feature of the finance measures adopted by the chamber of deputies early Tuesday morning, having slipped through unnoticed in the hectic all-night session.

While disputes were going on over the vote on other parts of the financial project, Edouard Herriot, president of the chamber, read the article organizing the sinking fund commission, one paragraph of which authorized a lottery. When he asked if there was any objection to the article, the deputies, engaged all over the house in wordy battles, failed to respond and he declared it adopted.

The deputies were surprised when they read today that they had voted this measure. If the senate concurs, all the government has to do is to issue a decree to establish a national lottery, with weekly or monthly drawings.

The financial measures passed by the chamber of deputies, which were the subject of a conference today between M. Doumer, the minister of finance, and M. Millies-Lacroix, chairman, and Henri Cheron, reporter of the senate finance committee, will, according to the best information, be voted promptly by the upper house, with such additions as will produce the 2,500,000,000 francs extra revenue needed to balance the budget. In the opinion of the leaders of the different groups in the chamber, the lower house will vote the measures with the senate amendments.

The most aggressive leaders of the groups of the coalition of the left, who heretofore have been loud in their assertions that they would not allow the upper house to overthrow the chamber, elected by universal suffrage, have modified their tone. Possibly dissolution in case of a conflict between the two houses is regarded with apprehension and its was admitted by one of the most active opponents of the government today that the chamber would vote whatever amendments the senate makes.

The finance committee of the senate has agreed to work night and day on the bills to have them ready for consideration before the end of the week.

The budget deficit which must be covered totaled 5,250,000,000 francs, M. Doumer informed the committee and the chamber had voted only 1,600,000,000 additional resources.

Daughter of an Aid To Washington Dies

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 17 (By A. P.).—Mrs. Louisa K. Thiers, 111 years old, and the daughter of a veteran of the American Revolution, died here today. Her father was Seth Kapron, a Massachusetts pioneer, who joined the colonial forces at the age of 18 and rose to be an aid-de-camp of Gen. Washington.

Mrs. Thiers often told of her father's acquaintance with Washington. At the time of Cornwallis' surrender, according to Mrs. Thiers, Washington shook hands with hundreds of his soldiers and the last to bid him good-by was her father. She recalled a visit with her father to West Point, where she met Lafayette.

Cancer Expert Doubts Berlin Bacillus Story

New York, Feb. 17 (By A. P.).—Dr. George A. Soper, managing director of the American Association for the Control of Cancer, said today that "to qualified students of cancer, the announcement from Berlin that the cause of cancer has been found to be a large bacillus, shaped like the letter S, has the word incredible written across the face of it." The discovery was accredited to Dr. Josef Schumacher, a German physician.

"For many years after bacteriology became a science," said Dr. Soper, "attempts were made to ascribe cancer to a bacillus, but without success. It is hardly possible that with all this research a large bacillus could have been overlooked."

2 REVOLVERS AND KNIFE TAKEN FROM BERGDOLL

German Officials Cautious in Case Because of Sachs' Alleged Enmity.

DODGER FEARS AMERICANS

Mosbach, Germany, Feb. 17 (By A. P.).—The German officials in charge of the prosecution of Grover C. Bergdoll, accused of seduction, are proceeding with great care in sifting the material on which their case will be based. This is because of the apparently unusual motives behind the case, and the personal enmity between Bergdoll and the instigator of his arrest, Robert P. Sachs, a detective.

Sachs has denied that he is acting as an agent of the American Legion seeking to force the draft dodger's expulsion from Germany, and describes himself as a representative of American newspapers. He also is credited with the statement that he is a deputy sheriff from Alameda county, Calif.

It is learned that Bergdoll was heavily armed when taken into custody. He was summoned to the mayor's office last Friday and placed under arrest for preliminary examination. A revolver was taken from him before the journey to the city hall. During the trip, in the state attorney's automobile he talked excitedly about Sachs, whom he immediately suspected as the instigator of the action.

A more thorough search at the city hall revealed that he was carrying a second revolver and a dagger. Acquaintances say he has always gone heavily armed of late, growing suspicious over the frequent visits of Americans to the hotel where he was staying.

The daughter of the hotel proprietor is said to have gone to America recently and obtained $6,000 from Bergdoll's mother for the draft dodger. Bergdoll's habits have been very erratic. On occasions, acquaintances say, he spent liberally and engaged in all-night drinking bouts, while at other times he lived a Spartan life, holding his expenditures down to the last possible pfennig.

HOUSE COMMITTEE URGES $85,078,000 FOR NAVAL AVIATION

1,000 New Airplanes by 1931 Is Goal Set; Three Dirigibles Provided For.

AERIAL ARM SECOND TO NONE PREDICTED

Major Plans of Moffett and President's Board Are Incorporated.

(By the Associated Press.)

The House naval committee gave its approval yesterday to a five-year building program to cost $85,078,000 for the naval air service. It would become operative in the fiscal year beginning June 30.

The program, as recommended to the House, includes both heavier-than-air and lighter-than-air activities, and by the end of the period would assure the service of 1,000 new airplanes and two dirigibles, each three times the size of the wrecked Shenandoah. The total cost of the two dirigibles would account for $8,000,000 of the total.

The committee also recommended an appropriation of $300,000 for the navy to contract with the Aircraft Development Corporation, backed by Ford interests, for an all-metal airship. This would be in addition to the total carried in the program.

The amount proposed in the program would be in addition to the $3,300,000 carried in the navy bill to provide for 78 new planes during the next fiscal year. Coupling this amount with the $12,285,000 recommended in the program, a total of $15,585,000 would be available for the fiscal year 1927, to provide 313 new planes.

Program for Each Year.

Thereafter the program would make the following apportionments:

1928, $16,223,000, providing 313 planes; 1929, $17,582,000, providing 335 planes; 1930, $18,941,000 providing 357 planes; 1931, $20,046,000, providing 374 planes.

This would give a total of 1,692 planes, including the 78 already provided for. Concurring with the statement of Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, naval air chief, that the efficient life of a plane was about three years, the committee estimated the strength of the air service in planes at the end of the period at 1,000.

Chairman Butler, of the committee, in a statement explaining the program, said it was "based on a treaty navy," and was designed to give the United States "an aerial arm second to none."

The program is in accord with the recommendations of the President's air board, he said, as to the adoption of a continuing construction policy, and also with the report of the special House aircraft committee of the last Congress as to the advisability of expending at least $10,000,000 for new equipment.

The committee, in drafting the program, used as its basis the recommendations submitted by Admiral Moffett, which were largely in accord with the findings of the two investigations mentioned. The Moffett recommendations, however, called for additional provisions not incorporated in the program by the committee. His estimates approximated $250,000,000, including $80,000,000 for maintaining the whole air service; $25,000,000 for a new airplane carrier, planes for this carrier, and 248 planes for eight scout cruisers authorized by the last Congress.

The program proposed by the committee made no provision for general maintenance of the air service. The expenditures it contemplated were about $20,000,000 less than Admiral Moffett recommended for the same purposes.

MEXICO GIVES SCHOOLS 24 HOURS TO CLOSE UP

Most Church Institutions Submit—Question Raised in House Here.

BOYLAN REQUESTS DATA

Mexico City, Feb. 17 (By A. P.). Dispatches from Puebla say that 24 hours has been given Catholic educational institutions to close. Most of them are shutting up voluntarily. Guadalajara dispatches say that four Catholic colleges in that State have been closed.

A riot broke out at Mixcoac, in the federal district yesterday when the authorities closed the college of Teresiana. The rioters were quelled without casualties.

Vera Cruz, Feb. 17 (By A. P.). Gov. Jara has ordered all the municipalities in the state of Vera Cruz to act upon the requirements of the Mexican constitution and exclude alien priests and close all Catholic schools.

Congressional eyes were again turned toward Mexico yesterday in the light of Archbishop Curley's protest against the expulsion from that country of missionaries. Representative Boylan (Democrat), New York, introduced a resolution calling upon the State Department for all information in the department's possession on the subject of Mexico's treatment of foreign missionaries.

Asserting that it is "time for our government to take some action," Mr. Boylan said the missionaries are being expelled under a law providing that only Mexican citizens may act as clergymen and teachers and that this expulsion is under way at the "very time the Mexican authorities were taking no steps to clean up the gambling hells and vice dens of Ti Juana in which American girls have been mistreated."

There are indications that Mr. Boylan's resolution will be held back for the present in order not to embarrass the department in its efforts to arrive at an agreement with Mexico on the latter's new agrarian laws, by which American and other foreign property holders would have to forego their holdings.

LABOR DEPARTMENT UPHOLDS EXCLUSION

Dayton, Tenn., arrived here yesterday to align himself with Countess Cathcart's counsel, having been employed to assist in the fight for her admission by a group of New York women headed by Harriet Stanton Blatch, Doris Stevens and others.

Although Mr. Hayes arrived at Department of Labor headquarters while Secretary Davis and his subordinates were still conferring over Countess Cathcart's case, he did not get a chance to present to them what he termed legal information of enough importance to be introduced in the case.

"Discrimination" Protested.

Headquarters of the National Woman's Party, when apprised of the countess' exclusion, issued a statement last night terming the decision "an amazing instance of discrimination against women in the enforcement of law" and that the party protested against it as official recognition of a double standard of morality which American women are determined to destroy in the national social system and government.

"This case spurs us on in our work for immerdiate passage of the equal rights amendment which would make such discrimination against a woman impossible," it states.

Secretary Davis, who signed the deportation order after a two days' study of the recommendation of the board of review, will spend the next few days in Ocean Park, Miami and several Florida points.

The habeas corpus proceedings permitting a judicial review of Countess Cathcart's case may permit her to enter the country under bond, it was stated.

Lady Craven Departing To "Mother Wild Boy"

New York, Feb. 17 (By A. P.).—The Countess of Craven prepared tonight to go to Montreal to "mother that wild boy," her husband, while the Countess of Cathcart meditated at Ellis island on the fate which excluded her from this country because she once eloped with that same "wild boy."

In parting, Lady Craven called the immigration authorities "dolts" for excluding her one-time rival. She termed the exclusion order "disgusting."

"What the Countess of Cathcart thought of those authorities couldn't be learned, as she was not accessible to visitors at Ellis island tonight.

Government Roster Is Lowest Since War

Not since the armistice have there been so few employes on the payroll of the government as on December 31, 1925, when 548,077 worked for the government throughout the United States. Of this total 61,509 were employed in the District. Of those employed here 36,657 were men and 24,852 women, while outside the District 431,845 were men and 54,723 were women.

Government payrolls had reached their peak on November 11, 1918, when 917,760 persons worked for the government.

On July 31, 1920, there were 691,116 government employes; July 31, 1921, 597,482; June 30, 1922, 560,863; June 30, 1923, 548,531; December 31, 1923, 544,671; June 30, 1924, 554,986; December 31, 1924, 555,619; June 30, 1925, 564,718, and December 31, 1925, 548,077.

Navy Asks Army for 20 New Second Lieutenants

The Navy Department has called upon the army to assist in procuring twenty second lieutenants for the United States Marine Corps. It is contemplated that the young officers will come from distinguished colleges and other institutions maintaining senior units of the Reserve Officers' Training corps.

The War Department has instructed its officers who are now serving as professors of military science and tactics in distinguished R. O. T. C. colleges in the United States and Hawaii, to lend every possible assistance to Maj. Gen. John A. Lejeune, commandant of marines, in procurement of the officers.

The War Department has charge of colleges with reserve officers' training and these are one of the chief sources of the marine corps enlistment of officers.

department. Should the depletion continue as it has for the past few years this amount would last only about five years more.

The whole whisky situation is developing rapidly. That well-known dry leader, Representative Upshaw, of Georgia, is in agreement with the well-known wet, John Philip Hill, of Maryland, according to a statement issued yesterday by Representative Emanuel Celler, of the Tenth New York district, on the latter's bill, introduced yesterday, designed to create a commission to study the result and effect of prohibition enforcement. Not only this pair, but still, according to Celler, Gen. Lincoln C. Andrews himself personally favors the project.

This bill is accepted also as important. It creates a commission of seven persons, of whom two at least shall be women, who, in the judgment of the President, are properly qualified to make a study and survey of the prohibition situation.

Report to Congress.

They are to report their findings to the Senate and the House, and they will find on the following specific propositions:

The effect of prohibition on business, industry and labor; its relationship to social and moral conditions in the various States; its effect upon family relations; its relation to crime; its effect on respect for law and drinking among young people.

The efficacy of Federal, State and municipal prohibition enforcement; the smuggling problem; illegal withdrawals; actual worth of the prohibition enforcement unit; the operations of the Department of Justice and its subordinate branches in carrying out the law and the worth of the judicial machinery in this connection.

The international aspect of prohibition.

The commission also will determine what is a reasonable interpretation of the percentage of alcohol which may remain in a beverage and still be nonintoxicating.

Each member is to receive $750 a month. The expenses of the commission are to be paid and it is given full power to summon and examine witnesses under oath.

The Secretary of the Treasury is made an ex-officio member of the commission and no member shall be named to it who has ever been associated, directly or indirectly, with any association or league for the dissemination of information for or against prohibiton.

G. O. P. Senators To Restrict Inquiries

(By the Associated Press.)

Processes by which the ordering of Senate investigations would be materially slowed up were agreed upon yesterday at a conference of Senate Republicans.

To discourage what has become a more or less general practice for the Senate to vote an inquiry at the request of a single senator and without any preliminary consideration of the merits of the case, the conference decided that hereafter resolutions of investigation will pass the scrutiny of two committees, the standing committee of the Senate dealing with the subject, and the committee on audit and control which would determine whether the contingent fund of the Senate would permit of the expenditure involved.

Concessions on Tax Measure Indicated

(By Associated Press.)

After three days of wrangling over differences in the administrative provisions in the revenue bills, Senate and House conferees prepared last night to fight out the variations in tax reductions voted by their respective chambers.

The $125,000,000 in reductions written into the bill by the Senate in addition to those approved by the House has provided the issues on which neither side thus far has yielded. There are definite indications, however, that both will make some concessions in the discussion of the rate schedules beginning today.

Lieut. Col. T. J. Dickson Gives Navy Address

Lieut. Col. Thomas J. Dickson, retired, yesterday delivered an address on the part the navy played in the world war to the patients and personnel of the Naval hospital here. Col. Dickson is president of the First Division society of Washington.

He declared that the navy in effectually transporting the men and materials of the United States army not only put this nation in a position to fight its enemies with its allies but saved the morale of its allies when it was at its lowest ebb.

HOUSE AND PRESIDENT THANK HEROES OF SEA

Coolidge, in Letter to Capt. Fried, Sees New Luster for Many Records.

By the Associated Press.

Heroic rescues by American and British seamen in recent storms on the Atlantic were recognized officialty by the House yesterday when it passed and sent to the Senate a resolution conveying the thanks of Congress.

The resolution, introduced by Representative Lindsay, Democrat, New York, mentioned the officers and crews of the American steamships President Roosevelt, President Harding, American Trader and Republic, and the British steamer Cameronia.

During the day President Coolidge also sent a letter to Capt. George Fried, of the President Roosevelt, praising the vessel's officers and crew for saving the lives of 25 British seamen of the Antinoe in the Atlantic storm late in January.

U. S. Has 60 Per Cent Of All Radio Stations

(By the Associated Press.)

Radio broadcasting stations throughout the world total 803, nearly two-thirds of which are in the United States. A census made by the Department of Commerce, which has jurisdiction over commercial radio in this country, showed that there now are 533 licensed broadcasters in the United States.

Canada, with 52 broadcasting stations, stands second to the United States. The recent radio boom in Spain has placed that country in third place with 22 stations, while the United Kingdom and France have 20 and 19 stations respectively. Figures of the other leading countries in order, are Mexico, 18 stations; Germany, Brazil and Sweden, 15 each; Cuba and Australia, 13 each, and Argentina, 7.

the proprietor, is among the missing.

Frank A. Wardlaw, superintendent of the Utah-Delaware Mining Co., stopped work in the mine and ordered the entire day shift to the surface for rescue work. The offices of the company were pressed into service as an emergency hospital. Here more than a score were treated for injuries more or less serious and tonight seven more patients were being cared for.

Infants' Narrow Escape.

Two of these were Couchita Beitia, 4 years old, and her little brother, Johnnie, 2½ years old. A bathtub and wash basin saved their lives. The girl is suffering from a badly frosted leg. The edge of the tub pinned this leg to the ground, stopping circulation. The boy, also pinned down by the edge of the tub, is also suffering from a frosted foot.

For more than four hours these children were within view of the rescue crew and during the slow process of cutting away timbers and in removing snow and rock, James Norburg, a miner, held the little girl's head and soothed her until she was rescued.

MARION TALLEY WINS TRIUMPH AT DEBUT

then the applause stopped the performance. Attempts of the or-orchestra to take up the next number were drowned in the ovation.

Miss Talley finally resumed. The flame of the candle in her steady hand did not flicker. Of all those in the house she was the least perturbed.

Miss Talley's voice, firm and unusual range, was clear in the upper register, and soft but full in its lower tones.

When Miss Talley returned to her dressing room at the end of the second act, she found awaiting her flowers sent by the telegraph operators of the New York bureau of the Associated Press as a tribute to the daughter of a man who once clicked off his daily stint of news over Associated Press wires.

10,000 Struggle Outside.

About 10,000 persons were outside the opera house when the performance began and although police reserves were called out, the crowd burst through ropes stretched about the entrance to restrain them. Mounted police, four abreast, were unable to disperse the throng. Files of foot police were broken and patrolmen swept off their feet. Mounted police charged in squad formation and still the crowd continued attempts to rush the entrances.

One woman who said she had been standing in line since the middle of the afternoon was lifted off her feet by a surge of the crowd as she reached the entrance and was carried to the street where she was deposited on the front fender of an automobile without being injured. She said that while she was being carried along a patroleman reached for her, but was knocked down and trampled under foot.

Father Sends News.

Seated at the sending end of the special leased wire of the Associated Press, 20 feet away from the scene of his daughter's performance, Charles M. Talley sent the first words that told the world of the successful fulfillment of his dreams.

Back stage there drifted the murmur of the audience, still excited over the startlingly mature voice that had come to them from the throat of the little Kansas City girl. Mr. Talley ticked off over the keys the following message of his delight:

"The things that the Talley family have been dreaming of for fifteen years have come true.

"Our little girl is singing to the world as we always thought she could some time do and would do.
"CHARLES M. TALLEY."

Mrs. Talley emerged from the flower-laden star dressing room, where she stayed throughout the performance to be as near as possible to Marion, for long enough to beam her satisfaction.

Jeritza Ends Season In New York Opera

New York, Feb. 17 (By A. P.).—Maria Jeritza, for several seasons the idol of opera goers, this afternoon took the farewell of her opera audience for this season with a special nonsubscription production of "Tannhauser." The Viennese soprano consented to appear before the final curtain only after ten calls had been answered by Lauritz Melchior and Frederich Scharr, who supported her. Then Jeritza harkened to the scores calling for her by name and took ten more curtain calls of her own.

Melchior, a Dane, made his American debut, singing the role of Tannhauser effectively and receiving acclaim for his vocalization in the last act.

250 Letters Admitted In Aluminum Inquiry

Pittsburgh, Feb. 17 (By A. P.).—Submission of documentary evidence in the Federal trade commission inquiry into the alleged monopolistic methods of the Aluminum Co. of America, progressed at a rapid pace today. When adjournment was taken 250 letters and telegrams had been identified and admitted to the record.

Letters submitted as exhibits today were, for the most part, communications to and from independent aluminum companies and the Aluminum Co. of America. It is the intention to use these letters in an effort to show that the independents were discriminated against. The hearing was adjourned until Friday.

ZIMMERMAN SEES REVOLT BY 500,000 GERMANS IN U. S.

Tells Gerard They Will Join Irish, as He Shows Ambassador List of Orders Placed by Allies With American Concerns — Campaign of Hate Against America Is Launched in Berlin.

INTIMATE PAPERS OF COL. HOUSE

INSTALMENT XIX

NOTHING illustrates so exactly the President's purpose in sending House abroad as the letter of credentials which he was to carry. In this letter Wilson emphasizes the fact that House was representing not an official attempt at mediation but merely the desire of the President to serve as a channel for confidential communication through which the belligerent nations might exchange views with regard to terms upon which the present conflict might be ended and future conflicts rendered less likely. He disclaimed for himself any desire to indicate terms or to play the part of judge, but merely that of the distinterested friend who had nothing at stake except interest in the peace of the world.

London, Jan. 15, 1915.

I lunched to day with Gen. French, who came here secretly for a council of war. He talked, of course, in profound confidence.

He says the military situation is a stalemate. The Germans can not get to Paris or to Calais. On the other hand, it will take the allies a year, perhaps two years, and an incalculable loss of men, to drive the Germans through Belgium. It would take perhaps four years and an unlimited number of men to invade Germany. He has little confidence in the ability of Russian aid in conquest of Germany. Russia has whipped Austria and will whip Turkey, but he hopes for little more from her.

Speaking only for himself and in the profoundest confidence, he told me of a peace proposal which he said the President, at Germany's request, has submitted to England. He tells me that this proposal is to end the war on condition that Germany gives up Belgium and pays for its restoration. French's personal opinion is that England would have to accept such an offer if it should be accompanied with additional offers to satisfy the other allies, such, for example, as the restoration to France of Alsace-Lorraine and the agreement that Russia shall have Constantinople.

American Ambassador,
London.

Gerard to the President.

Berlin, January 24, 1915.
(Enclosure.)

I do not think that the people in America realize how excited the Germans have become on the question of selling munitions of war by Americans to the allies. A veritable campaign of hate has been commenced against America and Americans. * * *

Zimmermann showed me a long list, evidently obtained by an effective spy system, of orders played with American concerns by the allies. He said that perhaps it was as well to have the whole world against Germany, and that in case of trouble there were 500,000 trained Germans in America who would join the Irish and start a revolution. I thought at first he was joking, but he was actually serious. The fact that our six army observers are still here in Germany and not sent to the front is a noteworthy indication. Zimmermann's talk was largely ridiculous, and, impossible as it seems to us, it would not surprise me to see this maddened nation-in-arms go to lengths however extreme.

GERARD.

Leaves For D. C.

"January 24, 1915: I left today on the 12:08 for Washington," recorded House. "The President was waiting for me and we immediately began to work and remained at it continuously for more than an hour delaying dinner 10 or 15 minutes, which is a most unusual thing for the President to do. * * *

"He insisted upon arranging for my expenses abroad and for those of my secretary Miss Denton. I let him know how trustworthy she was, so he would not think me indiscreet in writing through her about matters of an important and confidential nature. He asked me to tell St. Edward Grey his entire mind, so he would know what his intentions were about everything * * * He said: 'Let him know that while you are abroad, I expect to act directly through you and to eliminate all intermediaries.'

"He approved all I had in mind to say to Sir Edward and to the Germans. He said: 'There is not much for us to talk over, for the reason we are both of the same mind and it is not necessary to go into details with you.'

"I asked if it would be possible for him to come over to Europe in the event a peace conference could be arranged, and in the event he was invited to preside over the conference. He thought it would be well to do this, and that the American people would desire it.

"January 25, 1915: I went to Phillips' at 10 o'clock to meet the British Ambassador. He seemed pleased that I was holding to my intention to leave on Saturday. I again requested that he arrange with Sir Edward Grey by cable an engagement immediately upon my arrival. * * *

"Spring-Rice talked optimistically one minute and pessimistically the next, absolutely contradicting himself. * * * He warned me that I should probably encounter sentiment in England hostile to my mission, based upon the belief that it was possibly actuated by a desire to help Germany. He said there was a party there which would seize upon any excuse for an early peace and that they resembled the 'Copperheads' of the North during our civil war. I replied that he need not worry about my giving them comfort. * * *

"Phillips explained the arrangements he had made concerning money for my expenses. I dislike taking money even for them. I have never been paid by either a State or national government for my services, and, while I am not being paid for them now, I have heretofore paid my expenses. I do not feel able to meet the expenses of such a trip as this, and it lifts a load from me to have the government pay them. It was agreed that $4,000 should be placed to my credit at once. I have a feeling this will last for six months.

Praise From President.

"It then came time to say good-by. The President's eyes were moist when he said his last words of farewell. He said: 'Your unselfish and intelligent friendship has meant much to me,' and he expressed his gratitude again and again, calling me his 'most trusted friend.' He declared I was the only one in all the world to whom he could open his entire mind.

"I asked if he remembered the first day we met, some three and a half years ago. He replied, 'Yes, but we had known one another always, and merely came in touch then, for our purposes and thoughts were as one.' I told him how much he had been to me; how I had tried all my life to find some one with whom I could work out the things I had so deeply at heart, and I had begun to despair, believing my life would be more or less a failure, when he came into it, giving me the opportunity for which I had been longing.

"He insisted upon going to the station with me. He got out of the car and walked through the station and to the ticket office, and then to the train itself, refusing to leave until I entered the car. It is a joy to work for such an appreciative friend."

House to President.

New York, January 29, 1915.

Good-by, dear friend, and may God sustain you in all your noble undertakings.

When I think of the things you have done, of the things you have in mind to do, my heart stirs with pride and satisfaction.

You are the bravest, wisest leader, the gentlest and most gallant gentleman and the truest friend in all the world. Your devoted and affectionate

E. M. HOUSE.

On January 30, 1915, Col. House sailed from New York on the Lusitania. It was one of the last of her voyages.

House to President.

London, February 9, 1915.

Dear Governor: We arrived here Saturday afternoon, and I immediately arranged a private conference with Grey for 11 o'clock Sunday morning. We talked steadily for two hours and then he insisted upon my remaining for lunch, so I did not leave until 2:30.

We discussed the situation as frankly as you and I would have done in Washington, and, so far as I could judge, there was no reservation. He said several times, "I am thinking aloud, so do not take what I say as final but merely as a means of reasoning the whole subject out with you."

I gave him your book, which pleased him, and he regretted that the only thing he could give you in return was a book he had written on angling. * * *

The most interesting part of the discussion was what the final terms of settlement might be and how the difficult question of armaments could be adjusted. * * *

He went into the discussion of what Russia and France would demand. I told him if France insisted upon Alsace-Lorraine, I would suggest that a counter proposition should be made to neutralize them in some such way as Luxembourg now is. This would prevent the two (France and Germany) from touching anywhere, and they could only get at one another by the sea. He thought that Russia might be satisfied with Constantinople, and we discussed that in some detail.

I let him know that your only interest was in bringing them together and that you had no desire to suggest terms, and that what I was saying was merely my personal view, expressed to him in confidence and as between friends.

There was one thing Grey was fairly insistent upon, and that was we should come into some general guaranty for world-wide peace. I evaded this by suggesting that a separate convention should be participated in by all neutrals as well as the present belligerents, which should lay down the principles upon which civilized warfare should in the future be conducted. In other words, it would merely be the assembling at The Hague and the adopting of rules governing the game. He did not accept this as our full duty, but we passed on to other things. * * *

I am making a point to influence opinion over here favorably to you and to America. There has been a considerable criticism of us, and I was told that at a public meeting the other day, when the name of the United States was mentioned, there was some hissing. I find, though, that intelligent people over here are wholly satisfied with your course.

* * * Affectionately yours,
E. M. HOUSE.

In a separate memorandum Col. House noted:

"When we had finished talking Sir Edward smiled and said, 'Here I am helping to direct the affairs of a nation at war, and yet I have been talking for three and a half hours like a neutral.' * * *

"I have many times expressed my high regard for the character of Sir Edward Grey, but I wish to reiterate it here. If every bellicose nation had a Sir Edward Grey at the head of its affairs there would be no war; and if there were war it would soon be ended upon lines broad enough to satisfy any excepting the prejudiced and selfish.

Lunched With Page.

"February 10, 1915: I lunched with our Ambassador to meet Sir Edward Grey and Sir William Tyrrell. I wish I could give in detail every word of the conversation, for it was freighted with importance. We discussed at length the question of whether Germany was in earnest about beginning peace parleys. I maintained that she was, and that she was sparring for advantage: that she desired me to come on Bernstorff's invitation, unsolicited by the government, in order that they might say, in the event negotiations failed, that they had never been a party to them.

"Sir Edward thought the Germans were not ready for parleys, but were fencing for the purpose of getting the allies at a disadvantage, so that they might say to Ferdinand of Bulgaria and others that the Allies were making overtures for peace. I took the view that, while it was doubtful whether the military party was yet ready for peace, I felt certain the kaiser and his entourage were.

"I felt sure, though, that our government would be willing to join all nations in setting forth clearly the rights of belligerents in the future and agreeing upon rules of warfare that would take away much of the horrors of war.

"I suggested that this covenant should forbid the killing of noncombatants by aircraft, the violation of neutral territory and the setting forth of certain lanes of safety at sea in order that shipping of all countries, both belligerent and neutral, would not be subject to attack when they were in those lanes.

"Sir Edward amended this latter suggestion by saying he thought Great Britain would be willing to agree that all merchant shipping of whatever nature, belligerent or neutral, would be immune. I accepted the amendment and was pleased to know that Great Britain stood ready to go so far."

Zimmerman to House.

Berlin, February 4, 1915.

My Dear Colonel:

* * * I read with interest what you were good enough to write with reference to the desired interchange of opinion. While we are quite ready, as I wrote you before, to do our share to bring about the desired termination of the war, at the same time there are certain limits which we are unable to overstep.

What you suggest concerning the paying of an indemnity to Belgium seems hardly feasible to me. Our campaign in that country has cost the German nation such infinite sacrifice of human lives that anything in the form of such a decided yielding to the wishes of our opponents would cause the most bitter feeling among our people.

I heard that you are on your way to England at this moment and that a trip to Germany is in view. I shall be most happy to see you, should you carry out your intention, and shall hope for a personal interview more satisfactory than is possible through correspondence by letter.

With kindest regards, I am, my dear colonel, sincerely yours,

ZIMMERMAN.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON
Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.
Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.
Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Company, Atlanta, Ga.—Adv.

A Demonstration of Delivery Under Difficulties
A System That Surmounts Obstacles.
EVERY now and then conditions conspire to test—with opportunity to prove—the efficiency of our delivery service.
It's an Herculean task every day to make faultless delivery to every one of the 25,000 families depending upon us for their supply of milk. But the real test comes in the emergency of extreme conditions of winter weather—such as we have recently experienced.
Then every man in the delivery corps puts personal pride into his determination to keep our record spotless—and in a history-making snowstorm every patron was serviced without delay, as if normal conditions prevailed.
The perfecting of service is as essential as the perfecting of product—and we are excelling in both.

THE UNITED STATES NAVY.

Since 1885 the United States has spent more than $8,000,000,000 on its navy. Up to about 1916 the annual cost was less than $200,000,000. It mounted to $1,900,000,000 in 1919, dropped to $309,000,000 in 1923, and advanced to $328,000,000 in 1924. For the fiscal year 1925 the appropriations were $287,000,000, and for 1926 $317,000,000. The estimates for 1927 are approximately $320,000,000.

At present the navy consists of 17 battleships, 15 cruisers, 106 destroyers, and some 300 smaller craft composed of mine layers, patrol vessels, repair ships, tugs, mine sweepers, etc. The enlisted force is 86,000 men. Only 101 destroyers are in active service, 19 being stationed in the Asiatic squadron, with 1 cruiser.

In the Mediterranean squadron there are six destroyers and one light cruiser. On the Pacific coast there are two squadrons of nineteen destroyers each. A squadron is made up of three divisions of six destroyers each and a flagship. In the navies of other countries they have flagships that are larger destroyers, called "destroyer leaders," but the United States has no such type in its service.

The scouting fleet, which is stationed on the Atlantic coast, also has two squadrons of nineteen destroyers each. Last year, Congress appropriated money to begin construction of two cruisers, and it is expected to appropriate money this year to begin three more; and it is anticipated that next year Congress will appropriate money to begin the last three cruisers under the navy plan. Then the United States will have 15 modern cruisers of 7,500 tons and over. However, this does not compare with the cruiser forces of some of the other great powers.

The Senate restored in the naval bill two items which the House had eliminated, one of them providing $4,962,500 for new airplanes and the other authorizing the navy to contract for new aircraft equipment up to $4,100,000. The Senate also included an appropriation for continuing the Lakehurst air station.

As amended by the Senate the naval bill makes suitable provision for aircraft development and equipment for the navy, having in view the probable adoption of a five-year aircraft program which is now in preparation by the House committee on naval affairs. This program would authorize the expenditure of $20,000,000 annually for five years, which would produce 1,000 new airplanes and two dirigibles, each three times the size of the Shenandoah.

The more generous attitude of the Senate toward naval maintenance and development should be concurred in by the House conferees. True economy consists in reasonable development of the navy, rather than in paring down. Aircraft development, especially, must be provided for if the navy is to be efficient—and if not efficient, there is no economy anywhere.

The Senate's amendments are in line with necessary development and true economy. The House conferees can well afford to accept all the amendments.

BEEF PRICES.

Each year Swift & Co., one of the big packers of Chicago, publishes a yearbook through which its 46,000 stockholders are advised of the operations of the preceding year. This publication is distributed without cost to any who may be interested from an economic standpoint, or even from plain idle curiosity. While the primary purpose of the publication of the brochure is to keep the shareholders of the corporation advised of the operations of their company, it usually contains much information of general interest to every man and woman who is compelled to practice the gustatory art. The current issue of this publication contains much "food for thought" as well as information concerning "food for sustenance." For example, the report shows that the average price of cattle on the hoof in Chicago was $6.83 per hundred pounds in 1923, as compared with $6.55 in 1924 and $7.09 in 1925. There was a greater difference in the price of hogs, which brought an average of $7.49 in 1923, $7.82 in 1924 and $11.62 last year.

The average beef animal will "dress" about 65 per cent of his live weight, which means that a steer that weighs 1,000 pounds when he is conducted to the big Lithuanian who greets him with a pole-ax, will reduce his avoirdupois to 650 pounds of beef by the time he is hung up in the cooling room.

The yearbook shows further the average price at which beef was sold last year in four leading cities. One of the four was Washington, where the "branch house" sold the beef sent on from Chicago at an average price, for the entire year, of $14.90. A thousand-pound steer costing in Chicago $70.90 produced beef which brought in Washington $86.85 at $14.90 per hundred pounds, which does not appear to be an exorbitant profit for the packer, even though he realized a considerable sum from the sale of the hide and other "by-products."

Swift & Co. report total sales for the year exceeding $875,000,000, upon which was realized a gross profit of 1¾ per cent. It would be interesting to ascertain, if that were possible, what was the average price at which that $14.90 beef was sold to Washington consumers.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS.

The public buildings bill as passed by the House carries an appropriation not to exceed $165,000,000, of which $50,000,000 will be used in the District of Columbia.

The bill authorizes the Secretary of the Treasury to provide suitable accommodations in the District of Columbia for the executive departments and independent establishments; also courthouses, postoffices, immigration stations, custom houses, marine hospitals and quarantine stations under the control of the Treasury Department. He is authorized to buy land needed, erect buildings and repair existing buildings, and contract for the work required. In the District of Columbia the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to close or vacate portions of streets needed for public purposes.

The bill authorizes the Secretary of the Treasury to acquire land, to erect or enlarge all projects included in the statement of the Secretary of January 24, 1924, reciting the building projects under way.

According to the Secretary's report, some 500 cities have Federal public building projects under way, or sites purchased, or additions to present buildings awaiting action. While the Secretary of the Treasury is given power under the terms of the bill to select the cities where the first several million dollars are to be spent, he is limited to the list of cities where Congress already has authorized the purchase of sites or the erection of buildings.

Everybody knows that there is an emergency in the building facilities in the District of Columbia. The internal revenue bureau is scattered in 10 separate buildings, the general accounting office is scattered in 21 buildings, and the Department of Agriculture is scattered in 45 different buildings. In some of the public buildings many valuable public documents are housed in fire traps.

The $100,000,000 for the country at large will be allocated from time to time to the different parts of the United States at not more than $25,000,000 annually.

THE PANAMA CANAL.

The United States has something like $375,000,000 invested in the Panama canal, exclusive of the annual payments. Last year alone the total transit revenues were about $21,500,000, while the transit expenses were about $8,100,000, leaving a net transit balance of about $13,400,000. The total business revenues amounted to more than $14,500,000, and the total business expenses were about $13,700,000, leaving a net balance of about $800,000.

The United States operates the Panama railroad and the Panama railroad steamship line. Last year the profits of the Panama railroad were about $1,000,000, made mostly in the transportation of coal. The government's investment in the railroad corporation is about $26,000,000.

The operation of the government's steamship line showed a deficit of more than $500,000 in 1924 and a deficit of about $200,000 last year.

The Panama Railroad Company operates a packing plant handling 6,000 head of cattle each year. This plant makes money; but the dairy and plantation plants operated by the railroad just about break even. The operations of the railroad's fruit plants lose money.

There are two sets of government employes at Panama, paid in gold and silver, respectively. Employes in the Canal Zone in the government service total 12,270. They receive 25 per cent more than corresponding government rates in the United States.

BOBOLINK, THE LONG DISTANCE FLIER.

Very few Boy Scouts of this day and generation ever encounter that cheerful little chap known as "Bob-o'-the-link" during their hikes through the fields. But most of the fathers of those scouts, especially if they lived on a farm in any one of the States north or west of the Potomac, recall with much joy the morning greeting as the little fellow flew up toward the sky and sang gleefully "Bobolink, bobolink, bobolink; what do you think, what do you think?" He never remained long in the Northern meadows—just long enough to permit Mrs. Bob to teach the brood to stretch their wings.

Then Bob gathered his neighbors and friends and the whole colony would start South, after shifting their plumage. Several million of them got no farther than the marshes of the Anacostia river, where they were slaughtered by the thousand and served up in the restaurants and hotels of Washington as "reed birds." Those fortunate enough to dodge the shots of the pothunters continued the southern journey, only to meet more "sportsmen" in the rice fields of South Carolina, where they were known as "rice birds." Some of them escaped the second barrage, but what their ultimate destination was has remained a mystery until the Smithsonian institution sent a scientist, who makes the study of bird life his particular business to investigate. This ornithologist is Dr. Alexander Wetmore, and he has just published the result of his journey to the south of the equator, which journey he undertook for the purpose of learning definitely how far Bob-o'-the-link and other feathered travelers really fly after they leave the shores of North America.

Prof. Hornaday, who is the curator of the zoological garden in the Bronx, just outside New York city, and who was the father of our own "zoo," instigated the passage of the migratory bird law and the treaty with Canada for the protection of bird life. He tried to get Bobolink's name in the list of birds to receive the benefit of those legislative acts, but was unsuccessful for a time, and that is one reason why our Boy Scouts seldom meet the songster who gave dad so much pleasure when he was a boy.

Now Dr. Wetmore has found that Bobolink keeps on moving. He simply can not stay in one place very long. Dr. Wetmore found him asking that same question, "What do you think?" away down in Argentina. He had a lot of other North American birds with him, including barn swallows, sandpipers, snipe, hawks and thrushes. Dr. Wetmore even found these little creatures as far south as Patagonia, and if he himself had gone to the extreme southern point of the continent he would doubtless have discovered specimens of our feathered inhabitants on the rocks of Terra del Fuego.

They have started on their journey northward, and it is possible that some of these long-distance fliers may be seen in the fields of Maryland and Virginia when the snows disappear from the hills and the shotguns are put away on the gun racks. Heaps of fuss was made over the Spanish aviators who flew from Spain to Buenos Aires, and they are being "banqueted" nightly. When Bobolink returns he will find no committees awaiting to receive him, but there will be hosts of school children who will shout the glad tidings of his reappearance in his old haunts. Bob is always a welcome visitor, even though his stay be short.

NATIONAL BANKING LAWS.

Chairman McFadden, of the House committee on banking and currency, is firmly convinced that the present national banking system can be saved from decay only by some such legislation as that outlined in the so-called "branch banking bill" which has passed the House. To the end that the Senate may act favorably on the measure Mr. McFadden appeared before the Senate committee to explain his attitude and to urge prompt action. Mr. McFadden is opposed to the policy of some of the States which permit banks operating under State charters to maintain branches anywhere within the Commonwealth in which they are chartered, although this policy is common in England, in which country some of the biggest banks have branches all over the world. The Midland Bank, for instance, has upward of a thousand such branches, with headquarters in London.

Under the pending bill, which Mr. McFadden fathered and passed in the House, the right of national banks to maintain branches is restricted to the corporate limits of the cities in which they are located. Such a privilege is enjoyed in the city of Washington today and has resulted in the opening of branches by several of the foremost financial institutions which operate under national bank charters. The fact that the right to maintain branches by national banks is denied under the present laws has resulted in the liquidation of some of the biggest national banks in cities of the first class and the chartering of trust companies under State laws to take their places.

One of the most notable cases in point is that of the Manufacturers and Traders National, of Buffalo, N. Y. That bank's existence has covered the entire period of the life of the national bank act. But its charter has been surrendered, and after consolidation with the Fidelity Trust Co. the consolidated interests will continue their financial operations under a State charter. In thus transferring itself from national to State jurisdiction the Manufacturers and Traders but followed the action of the Marine National Bank of the same city, which gave up its national charter a few years ago and has continued operations since under the State law, establishing many branches, with the result that it has become by far the largest financial institution in the western end of the State. Buffalo, by the way, while the second city of the Empire State in population, has only two national banks left, and these are of secondary importance, compared with the trust companies, with their many branches and enormous resources.

◆

No more powerful argument in favor of the establishment of an air service similar to the organization of the marine corps can be advanced than that furnished by the news that Lieut. Leigh Wade and Lieut. H. H. Ogden are resigning their commissions in the army to enter the field as civilian aviators for exploration purposes. These officers won their reputations and the plaudits of the world through circumnavigating the earth in airplanes. In spite of those plaudits and the greetings of their countrymen on the completion of their record flight they still find themselves recorded in the army register as "lieutenants," with all the pay and allowances of a subaltern. Fliers may live on air, but their families usually find that "air pay" is rather too rarified to bring much comfort to the youngsters in the nursery.

The Worst Story I Have Heard Today
By Will Rogers

The Worst Joke I heard today was told to me by Captain Melville, of London, England. He is over here with an English Polo Team. He is a great little Englishman. Learned his Polo years ago in India. He has been a member of two International Teams sent to this Country to represent England. He is a little bit of a Bird. You wouldn't think he could chin a Polo Mallett. But you must never judge a player in any game by his size. He is as quick as a flash and slippery as an eel on a horse, has quick and easy handling ponies.

He was telling me of going to Germany one time to coach the German Army in Polo. Said he never went through such an experience in his life. They would sit on their horses as stiff as a stick, and when they got to where the ball was they would wait till someone gave them the command to hit at it.

Capt. Melville told me the following story. He was traveling one time in England on a train in one of those public compartment cars. In the car besides himself and an officer friend was a lady with a little baby. The English companion of Capt. Melville kept "peek-a-Booing" with the baby, and finally said to the Mother, "A fine youngster you have there. I hope you will bring him up to be an upright and fine young man."

"Yes," replied the mother, "but I am afraid it will be quite a task."

"Oh, no," said the Traveler. "As the twig is bent, so is the tree inclined."

"I know it, replied the mother, "but this twig is bent on being a Girl and we are inclined to let it go at that."

Needed in Congress—A Large and Efficient Office Cat.

PRESS COMMENT

It Certainly Is!

Petersburg Progress-Index: This is the time of the year when many men feel like posting a notice like this on their postoffice box: "Post No Bills."

More Cash Needed.

New York Times: Commissioner Curran has found time, in spite of his troubles over the Cathcart-Craven case, to lay before the House committee on immigration the fact that there are in this country a vast number of aliens, perhaps 1,300,000, who are here illegally, and to suggest that they should do something about it. The only something to be done by Congress is to appropriate a lot of money to pay for the catching and deportation of these undesirables.

Commending the Omnibus Bill.

New York Herald-Tribune: In "pork barrel" days public building measures were always under suspicion. They ceased to be so when responsibility for the amounts allotted to projects was passed over to executive officers with a broader outlook and with little desire to spend money on buildings meant merely to be monuments to senators or representatives. The Elliott bill has no taint. It represents strict control of expenditure and profitable Federal investment.

Still in Doubt.

Springfield Republican: It is now possible for a Republican from Maine to meet a Republican from California in a hotel lobby in New York and for each to know what the other means when he says, "I am a Republican."—From C. Bascom Slemp's new book, "The Mind of Coolidge."

There will be instant dissent even as to Senator Hiram Johnson's State. But substitute Idaho (Borah) or Nebraska (Norris) or Wisconsin (La Follette) for California in Mr. Slemp's statement, and observe the ridiculous effect.

HAIL, HELEN!

Philadelphia Ledger: Helen Wills has no intention of offering an alibi for her defeat at Cannes. She does not care to plead that an injury to her knee sustained in a fall the day before the crucial match prevented her from playing the sort of tennis of which she is capable. Nor does she hold a linesman blameworthy for a decision that may have turned against her the tide that was setting in her favor. Instead, she prefers, in a gallant and sportsmanlike spirit, to ascribe the victory of the phenomenal Frenchwoman to superior prowess with the racquet.

New York Herald Tribune: Miss Wills has made the strongest challenge an American could offer. In an atmosphere of great tenseness, due largely to the powerful elements of commercialism, the champion defended her title successfully. These two magnificent players will meet again, perhaps in surroundings where sport is pursued more for the fun of the game, and when they do Miss Wills will not start as a forlorn hope, but as a worthy rival.

New York World: Miss Wills was defeated yesterday by an opponent of superior experience and superior ability. It was generally predicted by Tilden and by other tennis experts that she would be defeated. The remarkable fact is that she took so many games and scored 65 points to the winner's 83. Alibis do not do her credit.

Richmond Times Dispatch: Suzanne Lenglen retains the international championship for women; but Helen Wills retains and has strengthened the admiration if not the adulation of the world of sports.

Philadelphia Inquirer: The rapid progress of the Americal girl, who has mowed ruthlessly through a harvest of champions ripe for cutting, may have given a false impression as to her ability when compared with Suzanne. In the latter, however, there has been developed a woman wonder who can be compared only with Tilden in his class. It is not strange then that the California girl should become her latest victim. The wonder to many will be [illegible] Miss Wills made [illegible] excellent showing she did. That they are both far and away from the reach of other contenders was proved by the impressive manner each won her preliminary games.

Philadelphia Record: The score shows conclusively, however, that on one side there was just that percentage of superiority in stroke and stamina which gives one individual the mastery over another apparently equal in equipment. Suzanne's much-discussed temperamental eccentricities did not weaken her arm or entangle her flying feet, and there is no flaw in her title to preeminent distinction. Yet her younger antagonist remains formidable, and followers of the game will await with keen expectancy the next meeting.

Baltimore Sun: It was a glorious defeat for the young girl. No other woman player could have put up such a contest against the most accomplished artist with a racquet that womankind has produced.

The Creative Power of Pretense
By GLENN FRANK

We are inveterate legend makers and lovers of illusion.

We are unwilling to remain prisoners of hard fact; we spin fairy tales of fancied powers and attribute them to ourselves and others.

When we indulge in this sort of pretense about ourselves we are practising what Jules de Gaultier called Bovarysm, after Madame Bovary, the heroine of Flaubert's novel, who thought she was a great lover when she was in fact a poor, sick little woman. We are Bovarys when we believe ourselves to be other than what we are.

When we indulge in this sort of pretense about others we are practising hero-worship. In our hero-worship we attribute to public leaders who have caught our fancy all sort of virtue and vision which they may not at all possess.

Remy de Gourmont gives an amusing illustration of humanity's weakness for weaving legends about its heroes.

Napoleon, like Roosevelt, took inordinate pride in a reputed ability to recall every face he had once seen. He blundered hopelessly in his efforts to remember, but he clung to his illusion and his followers fed his illusion.

One day he saw a face in a delegation and thought that he recognized it. It was the face of a distinguished scholar named Ameilhon. Remy de Gourmont relates the conversation between Napoleon and Ameilhon as follows:

"Aren't you Ancillon?" asked Napoleon.

"Yes, Sire, Ameilhon," replied the scholar.

"Librarian of Sainte-Genevieve?"

"Yes, Sire, of the Arsenal."

"Continuator of the History of the Ottoman Empire?"

"Yes, Sire, of the History of the Low Empire."

Wrong on all counts, and yet Napoleon still swaggered and Ameilhon, says de Gourmont, was enchanted with the honor and went about saying, "The Emperor is amazing. He knows everything."

It is easy to poke fun at the illusions that lead us into false estimates of ourselves and of others, and yet it may be that the Bovarysm that leads us to delude ourselves and the hero-worship that leads us to deify our leaders are responsible for many personal and public achievements.

There is a creative power in pretense, provided it results in confidence and not mere cocksureness.

In another assay, de Gourmont, who can hardly be regarded as a professional Pollyanna, says:

"The man who overestimates himself is also he who is capable of surpassing himself. * * * If one estimated oneself only at his proper value, one would not estimate himself sufficiently. If we did not grant to ourselves a power superior to our real power, we would never dare to undertake the impossible; now it is perhaps only the impossible that is worthy of being undertaken. * * * And finally, it happens in many cases that the real worth of a person coincides with the estimate placed upon him by his self-conceit. * * * All peoples have recognized that certain efforts are impossible without certain illusions, and that, of all principles of action, the powerful and the most fruitful is still self-confidence."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Motion.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: A point in space is a position at rest. When it moves we have the line of geometry illustrative of the first dimension when straight. When the line moves sideways we have the square, the second dimension—an advance. When the square moves through space we get the third dimension, the cube—another advance. The sages prove conclusively that the material cube, the physical representative of the three dimensions of space, is likewise in motion. From previous reasoning on progression would there not be correctly assumed an advanced dimension over the third, a motion which would account for space occupation? Science should be consistent.

Washington, Feb. 17.

Baron von Steuben.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: A few days ago you reproduced an item from the Brooklyn Eagle as follows:

"New Jersey is to be congratulated on her plan to buy the former home of Baron von Steuben in Bergen county as a relic of Washington's period. As a drillmaster the Prussian was unapproached and unapproachable. Even in the world war nobody suggested changing the name of Steuben street in Brooklyn."

And the seized German vessel Kronprinz Wilhelm was renamed Von Steuben.

PHILIP WALKER.
Washington, Feb. 16.

INAUGURATION DAY.

Philadelphia Record: Thus the proposition to shorten the interval between elections and the fulfilling of the mandate of the people is a move toward making the government more representative and more responsive to the popular will. With Congress itself favoring the reform its adoption may be expected as soon as the formalities of ratification can be completed.

Baltimore Sun: No impatience over "tinkering with the Constitution" should stand in the way of the proposed amendment to change the date of the inauguration of the President and the date of the meeting of the Congress elected with him. The inauguration would be moved up from March 4 to January 20. The meeting of Congress would be moved up from December to January 1.

New York World: There is nothing sacred about March 4 as inauguration day; or the first week in December as the assembling time for the regular session of Congress. In each case the selection was in a sense accidental, the long delay after election natural enough, considering the difficulties of travel between sprawling States separated by marsh and mountain, unbridged rivers and fathomless mud. There is no longer any respectable reason for delay.

New York Times: Even if the House follows the example of the Senate, will it be ratified? The country is sour to constitutional amendments. It remembers the seductive song of the Anti-Saloon Lorelei and sees no new demand for ascension robes after the [illegible] "emancipation" of the superior sex.

COMING ATTRACTIONS IN AMUSEMENT HOUSES

NATIONAL

The all-star company in "The Rivals" will begin a week's return engagement at the National theater on Monday, February 22. The visit will open with a holiday matinee on Monday—Washington's birthday. The only other matinee will be played on Saturday.

The previous engagement of this organization in Washington was played at the National theater during the week of March 16, 1925. It met with such hearty reception at that time that the forthcoming engagement was arranged for.

In the interim the all-star company has played continuously, with the exception of a vacation of three week taken the past July in California, immediately following the California engagement. From Washington it will have a week's engagement at the Apollo theater, Atlantic City. In the cast of "The Rivals" are Thomas A. Wise, Donn Cook, Fred Eric, James T. Powers, Brandon Tynan, Gerald Rogers, Barlowe Borland, Herbert Belmore, Mrs. Fiske, Lotus Robb, Jean Ford and Marie Carroll.

KEITH'S

Keith's theater will celebrate Washington's birthday week with a double headlined bill beginning with the Sunday matinee, February 21, at 3:15 p. m. The first of the twin headliners is Jose Collins, who arrives from London for a special and limited engagement over the Keith-Albee circuit, bringing with her, Victor Marmont at the piano, and Philip Simmons, tenor.

Solly Ward will hold down the other half of the headline spot in a satirical comedy called "Babies," written by Al Lewis and Solly Ward and presented by Lewis and Gordon.

Featured for the week will be Irving Boernstein's Wardman Park Hotel orchestra, featuring Dolly Daye, and Mulroe and Kueling, the dancing fools.

Charles Kellogg, known as the nature singer, the man who has conquered nature and who recently extinguished a flame by sound, will entertain with a novel offering.

Edith Clifford, comedienne. "Gimme the Makin's," an act presented by Eddie Allen and Doris Canfield. Henry Regal, "the world's greatest," assisted by Ida Gerber and C. Henry, and the Angel Bros., unrivaled balancers, are other acts on the bill.

BELASCO

"Charm," a comedy of youth, will have its Washington premier at the Belasco theater next Monday. This play is by a new writer, John Kirkpatrick. It was staged and is under the direction of Rachel Crothers.

"Charm" has for its hero a lad in a small village, this time a Southern one. He is crazy about Ida May Harper, who wants to go to New York and do things in a fashionable way. The boy is a dreamer, a modern Don Quixote, who after he has bought and studied "The Book of Charm," ordained to become a second Celleni.

Elizabeth Patterson portrays a mother. She is a Kenneth Dana, as the boy also. In the company are Maidel Turner, Lee Tracy, Charles D. Brown, Robert Strauss, Joan and Marion, Sammie Harris, Mary Walch, Helen Curtiss, Richard Coolidge, Nellie Tellman and others. There will be the usual matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

AMBASSADOR

Richard Barthelmess will return to the screen of Crandall's Ambassador theater the first three days of next week in First National's picturization of A. E. Thomas' successful stage play "Just Suppose," with Lois Moran in the opposite role. The bill will be supplemented by abbreviated camera subjects of varied interest and excellent pipe-organ music by Harold T. Pease and Gertrude Kreiselman.

On Wednesday and Thursday of next week Mae Murray will be seen in Metro-Goldwyn's romance of the Parisian underworld and beau monde, "The Masked Bride." The comedy will be the latest release in the Helen and Warren series, "All Aboard."

Rudolph Schildkraut will be seen in the pivotal role of "His People," a Universal production, on Friday of next week only. Mack Sennett's "A Rainy Knight" will be the comedy.

On Saturday only of next week D. W. Griffith's production of "Sally of the Sawdust" will be shown with Carol Dempster and W. C. Fields. A new Aesop fable also will be shown, and the bill will be further augmented at the matinee by the seventh episode of "The Green Archer."

A Raw, Sore Throat

Eases Quickly When You Apply a Little Musterole

Musterole won't blister like the old-fashioned mustard plaster. Spread it on with your fingers. It penetrates to the sore spot with a gentle tingle, loosens the congestion and draws out the soreness and pain.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment made with oil of mustard. Brings quick relief from sore throat, bronchitis, tonsilitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds on the chest. Keep it handy for instant use.

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

METROPOLITAN

Richard Barthelmess will be seen on the screen at Crandall's Metropolitan theater next week, beginning Sunday afternoon at 3, in First National's production of "Just Suppose," a romantic film play adapted from the stage success of the same name by A. E. Thomas. The auxiliary attractions will include a new issue of the Metropolitan World Survey and a group of specially selected supplementary offerings in complete harmony with the artistic quality of the major feature.

An unusually tuneful musical accompaniment of the principal attraction will be played by the Metropolitan symphony, under the conductorship of Daniel Breeskin. The concert overture for the week will be comprised of selections from Sigmund Romberg's "The Student Prince," and the theme of the interpretative orchestral score will be "The Love Song," by Offenbach. The exit number will be "A Girl in Your Arms" from "Sweetheart Time."

"Just Suppose" brings Barthelmess to the silver sheet in the role of a young prince of a small European kingdom, whose father, the king, sends him to America as a form of punishment for not having taken the "prince business" quite seriously enough. The plan suits the second son to perfection because he has fallen desperately in love with an American girl whom he has seen in his own country but never met. In America Prince Rupert enjoys about the same sort of relaxation as marked the visit to Long island of another famous prince not so long ago—he plays polo, falls off his horse, and everything!

The production is one that reflects much of the pomp, circumstance and glory of being of the royalty—but Prince Rupert liked America better!

EARLE

A surprise headline act will be presented at the Earle theater, Thirteenth street below F northwest, next week, the first performance of the complete bill to begin Sunday at 3. In addition to this novelty number there will be presented the customary five additional acts of Keith popular-priced vaudeville and Stanley selected first-run photoplay features and regular house attractions.

Among the vaudeville divertissements to be offered will be included Betts and partner, in a demonstration of the prowess that may be attained by skilled equilibrists; Eddie Barto and Mae Mack in "The Milk Bandit," a snappy bit of diversion punctuated with peppy dialogue and catchy songs; Ted Lorraine and Jack Minto, assisted by Mlle. Marie Andre in a miniature musical comedy adaptation of "Moth and Flames," with special music by Fragson and lyrics by William T. O'Sullivan, and Gene Winchester and Sammy Ross in "Wise and Otherwise"—mostly the latter, but all interesting and amusing. Other features will be included in the program and the net result will be a continuance of the greatly enhanced entertainment values the Earle has been offering its patrons of late weeks.

The feature film play for the week will be "Braveheart," in which the stellar role is played by Rod La Rocque.

Floyd C. Wheeler, conductor of the Earle Theater orchestra, has selected "Moonlight in Mandalay" for his overture and will play "Croon a Little Lullaby" as the exit march.

RIALTO

The Rialto, commencing Sunday, will show "What Happened to Jones." Reginald Denny portrays the title role. The picture is a photoplay version of George Broadhurst's famous stage play of the same name. It tells of a rich Bible manufacturer, Tom Jones, who finds himself in difficulties with the police on account of the raiding of an innocent poker game in which he had participated. His efforts to escape detection, clear his name and win back the love of his fiancee, form the motif of "What Happened to Jones."

In addition to Denny these players will be seen in the supporting cast: Marian Nixon, Otis Harlan, Zasu Pitts, Melbourne MacDowell, Margaret Quimby, Ben Hendricks, Nina Romano and others of prominence.

A special presentation feature for the entire week will be the engagement of the George Washington University Girls Glee club, an ensemble of 50 voices, who have been trained by Miss Stella Wentworth, the former opera star and well-known vocal instructor, and will be directed by Mischa Guterson as the presentation befitting and commemorative of George Washington's birthday anniversary.

MUTUAL

Included in the cast of the "Broadway Belles," coming to the Mutual theater the coming week, are Caroline Ross, Gertie Avery, Edna Somers, Mickie Markwood, Lou DeVine, Al Ridgeway and Harold Beasley.

In selecting his cast of principals Jack Singer, the producer, has not overlooked the ever important gathering of beautiful girls constituting the chorus. They are reported to be all under 18 years of age and should prove exceptionally attractive when disporting themselves on Manager Jack Garrison's newly installed illuminated runway.

The new week at the Mutual starts with a matinee on Sunday with two performances given daily throughout the following week. Nightly features are given with the slogan of the theater being—Try to Get In!

WARDMAN PARK

The Thomas Herbert Stock company, an established succes at Wardman Park theater, will next week produce "The Light That Failed," a drama by Rudyard Kipling.

This is the love story of two artists whose different conceptions of an ideal keep them apart. Dick Heldar commercializes his art and is successful while the woman he loves struggles on for the glory of painting and not for money, but in the end, sympathy at the loss of his eyesight and also the destruction of his masterpiece draws Maisie back to take care of him.

Ruth Harrison and Parker Fennelly, will, as usual, have the leading roles. Ruth Russell will play Bessie Broke; Leona Roberts will be seen as Mrs. Beeton; Ann French as Jane Beeton; Robert L. Clear will play Gilbert Torpenhow; Arthur Rhodes, Phil Dessau; Cassavetti will be played by John Schelhaas and Thomas Herbert, director, will play Henry Canby and Dr. Sedgwick.

COLUMBIA

Greta Garbo, continental screen beauty, will make her American debut in Monta Bell's production for Metro-Goldwyn, of V. Blasco Ibanez's latest story, "The Torrent," which will be given its initial presentation in Washington at Loew's Columbia for the week beginning next Sunday afternoon, February 21. Ricardo Cortez will also appear prominently in the production. The cast also includes Gertrude Olmstead, Edward Connelly, Mack Swain and others.

In "The Torrent," the author of "The Four Horsemen" has written a flaming love story of gay, romantic Spain about the exquisite beautiful figure of a famous opera singer and her love affair with a young aristocrat of her native village. The picture depicts a great operatic performance and the gorgeous throne room of the royal palace at Madrid.

Aside from its presentation of Miss Garbo and its remarkable scenic qualities, "The Torrent" is said to constitute the directoral high-water mark of Monta Bell's career.

The featured attraction will be supplemented by a group of additional program subjects, including the Christie comedy riot, "Rin-Tin-Can;" the International newsreel pictures of world events, Mr. Bruslof's musical embellishment and other added hits.

STRAND

For the week of George Washington's birthday, beginning with Sunday afternoon performance, the Strand will present a gala holiday week program. The feature attraction on the vaudeville bill will be the Royal Pekin troupe, a group of seven mysterious Chinese wonder workers, renowned as magicians. Other numbers include Ann Butler and Hal Parker in "Don't Make Me Laugh." Al Abbott in a musical and comedy number entitled "At a Home Talent Show," De Bee and Weldon in a highly amusing number, "Musical Nonsense," and Joe Small's seven rainbow girls in "A Glittering Galaxy of Gay Goddesses Gorgeously Gowned."

The feature photoplay brings Sally O'Neil to the Strand screen in "Don't," a story of a vivacious, unruly modern American flapper in a staid, conventional, old-fashioned town. It's a riot.

The usual short film features and orchestral numbers will complete the program.

GAYETY

Mollie Williams and her own show will be next week's attraction at the Gayety theater. Years of close contact and intimate association, ranging from the chorus to producer, has equipped Miss Williams for her work in producing satisfactory entertainments. This year she maintains her usual high standard of stage settings, costumes, principals and chorus, and presents Vic Plant and Bobby Wilson as her featured comedians. There are 20 scenes, 26 musical numbers and a veritable fashion parade of gorgeous gowns. And there is a chorus that even in a Mollie Williams' show is the last word in feminine charm and vivaciousness. As usual Miss Williams will offer a dramatic playlet as part of the show. It is called "The Bride's Story," and is said to be filled with tense situations relieved by smart comedy. At every performance during the week, including the daily matinees, Miss Williams will introduce members of her chorus to the audience, then at their head she will travel through the aisles and distribute her autographed photograph to everyone present.

Star of the Metropolitan.

Elizabeth Rethberg, soprano, of the Metropolitan Opera Co., will appear in recital at the National theater Thursday at 4:30.

Mme. Rethberg was introduced to Washington less than a month ago at Mrs. Townsend's musicals. A short time ago Mme. Rethberg was known as a gifted and versatile member of the Metropolitan opera. Today she is heralded as a great operatic soprano and one of the most popular concert artists. This recital will be the ninth offering of the ten star series, presented by T. Arthur Smith.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

ON A BOX OF GOLF BALLS.

A dozen golf balls all my own,
Twelve in a box, all neatly wrapped!
Not one of these a slice has known,
Not one of these has yet been trapped.
Twelve lovely golf balls, gleaming white
And not one ugly cut in sight!

As some lean miser counts his gold
And gloats upon his yellow store,
These mesh-marked beauties I behold
And eagerly I count them o'er.
A dozen golf balls all my own,
That never cut of iron have known!

When comes the merry month of May
I shudder when I stop to think
As I go bravely forth to play
In yonder lake this ball may sink.
This one, perhaps, I shall abuse,
And possibly this one I'll lose!

A dozen golf balls all my own,
If I should hoard them out of sight,
To count them over when alone
They'd never lose their perfect white.
And never venturing ditch or tree,
These golf balls always mine would be.

And yet to know their perfect joy,
These lovely golf balls I must lose,
Their gleaming sides I must destroy
With many an ugly cut and bruise.
The only pleasure they can bring
Lies in the game's adventuring.

TIVOLI

D. W. Griffith's production for United Artists of "Sally of the Sawdust," a story of circus life, featuring Carol Dempster and W. C. Fields, with Alfred Lunt, Effie Shannon, Marie Shotwell and others in support, will be presented as chief feature of the bill announced for the first day of next week at Crandall's Tivoli theater, beginning Sunday afternoon at 3. A new Aesop fable will be the foremost subsidiary attraction and the program will be further augmented by the melodious pipe organ accompaniments and solo intervals contributed by Otto F. Beck, concert artist, and Ida V. Clarke, assistant.

On Monday only of next week, the Tivoli will star Richard Dix in Paramount's picturization of Arthur Stringer's story of "Womanhandled." The foremost subsidiary offering will be Mack Sennett's new comedy, "Dangerous Curves Behind," and a new release of the popular "Screen Snapshots" also will be shown.

Corinne Griffith will occupy the screen on Tuesday and Wednesday of next week in First National's production of "Infatuation." Earle Fox will supply the fun in Booth Tarkington's "The Big Game Hunter," and new issues of the Pathe Review and Topics of the Day will be added attractions.

Dorothy Mackaill and Jack Mulhall are the costars of the widely read serial "Joanna," to be shown at the Tivoli in pictured form on Thursday and Friday. Paul Parrott will supply the added comedy in "Pay the Cashier." Saturday, Ben Lyon in "The Pace That Thrills," comedy, hodge podge and chapter play.

PALACE

"The Auction Block," Hobart Henley's picturization for Metro-Goldwyn of Rex Beach's novel of Manhattan social life, with a cast that includes Charles Ray, Eleanor Boardman, Sally O'Neil, David Torrence, Ned Sparkes and others, will be given its initial presentation locally at Loew's Palace for the week starting next Sunday afternoon.

"The Auction Block" has been adapted to the screen by Frederic and Fannie Hatton, coauthors of "Lombardi, Ltd.," "Upstairs and Down" and other stage plays. In theme, this Rex Beach story is a vivid and fascinating arrangement of the prevailing social practice of a family auctioning off a beautiful daughter in marriage to the highest financial bidder.

Eleanor Boardman plays the Southern beauty who is practically sold to a young millionaire whose love, however, is genuine. This part is assumed by Charles Ray. Sally O'Neil plays the part of a small-town baby vamp.

The feature attraction will be supplemented by added screen and musical features, including Charles Chase's latest short-length comedy, "His Wooden Wedding;" the Pathe Newsreel pictures, Tom Gannon's music and other subjects.

Kreisler Here Tomorrow.

Fritz Kreisler, the famous and beloved violinist, will make his only appearance of the current season in Washington at Poli's tomorrow afternoon, February 19, at 4:30 o'clock, as the second artist in Mrs. Wilson-Greene's philharmonic course, which includes concerts by Mme. Jeritza, the sensational Viennese prima donna, on Wednesday, March 3; Sigrid Onegin's first concert appearance in Washington on Wednesday, March 24, and the final appearance of the Boston Symphony orchestra this season on Tuesday afternoon, April 13, all at Poli's theater at 4:30 o'clock.

For his only Washington concert this season, Mr. Kreisler, who will be assisted by Carl Lamson at the piano, has arranged a program, including Beethoven's Kreutzer Sonata, Vieuxtemp's Concerto No. 4, in D minor, Kreisler's own arrangement of the Volga Boat Song, Russian hymn, Tschaikowsky's "Humoresque" and Poldini's "Dancing Doll." Other selections will include Hubay's Hungarian Fantasy, La fille aux cheveux de lin, by Dubussy-Hartmann and Ave Maria by Schubert-Wilhelmy.

Remarkable Storm Scenes.

Moving pictures made aboard the President Roosevelt, a United State Line's ship, during the rescue of the crew of the British frighter, Antinoe, are being shown in the news reel at the Columbia theater. The pictures went on last night, and will run through to Saturday night. They depict one of the most remarkable sea battles in the history of American shipping; a fight in which American sailors won the plaudits of the world, for which they were decorated by the King of England and received the homage of their own people upon returning to New York. It was a four-day battle with the elements, the biggest storm on the Atlantic in recent years. Two of the Roosevelt men lost their lives, and one of the tragic scenes in the pictures now being shown at the Columbia, is the capsized lifeboat drifting on the waves.

POLI'S

Manager Leo Leavitt, of Poli's, received word from the Messrs. Shubert, New York producers of the musical play, that "The Student Prince" would be kept at the local theater a second week, beginning this Sunday night. Tickets for the extended period will be placed on sale this morning.

Noticeable in the audiences at Poli's this week has been the great number of out-of-town patrons. Local music-lovers and devotees of the lighter form of music drama have taken most kindly to the Romberg-Donnelly operetta, and it may attain the popularity here that it has in other cities.

CENTRAL

"Wreckage," a drama of smugglers, misinterpreted motives, murder and love, will be shown in film form at Crandall's Central theater the first two days of next week, beginning Sunday at 3, with May Allison and Holmes Herbert. The comedy will be Lupino Lane's contribution to the gayety of nations, "Maid in Morocco." A new Grantland Rice "Sportlight" also will be shown.

On Tuesday and Wednesday of next week Milton Sills and Doris Kenyon will be seen in "The Unguarded Hour," a tale of New York's smart set and the Riviera. The comedy will be "All Aboard," a new release in the Helen and Warren series.

Richard Dix in "Womanhandled" will be seen on Thursday and Friday of next week. The added comedy will be Booth Tarkington's Van Bibber story, starring Earle Foxe, "The Big Game Hunter."

Leon Errol and Dorothy Gish will be screened Saturday only of next week in "Clothes Make the Pirate." Cliff Bowes will furnish the additional laughs in "Brotherly Love."

MOLLIE

By EUSTACE HALE BALL

(Copyright, 1926, Thompson Feature Service, Inc.)

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

Mollie, a country girl, is employed by a firm of mining stock operators headed by Ben Corliss who has made her his private secretary. Corliss uses Mollie's beauty, much against her will, to entice men to buy stock in the firm. One of these is Weldon, the millionaire, who tells Mollie at tea that he does not trust any one in the firm except Sanford, the mining expert, who also has little faith in Corliss and his associate, Blythe. However, he knows the mine and advises Mollie, with whom he is already falling in love to buy some stock. Corliss, noting the growing intimacy between Mollie and Sanford, orders him West on an inspection tour. Instead of leaving, however, he remains and watches Corliss' movements. That evening he summons Gladys Goodson, the office stenographer, to do some work for him. She tells him that Corliss has taken Mollie out to dinner. Gladys takes him to the place where they are dining. Sanford, whose faith in Mollie is now shaken, asks Gladys to keep him posted on office affairs, and promises ample reward. One day when Corliss is unable to meet a payment on stock he has bought for delivery, Mollie comes to his rescue with the balance. Elated over this he arranges a party and Blythe, who is also interested in Mollie, asks her to go with him, without Corliss' knowledge. At Mollie's home he encounters her coming out with Carver, a rich man to whom she has sold stock. Carver is so disagreeable in the taxi that Mollie returns home followed by Carver and a policeman who has a robbery complaint against her. Mrs. Gregg, the landlady, comes to Mollie's rescue and the policeman makes Carver drop the charges. Next morning after Blythe had lied to Corliss that Mollie had been arrested by Carver for selling fake mining stock, Carver appears at the office inquiring for her. Corliss orders him out of the office. Then a Federal agent appears to demand the original engineer's report on the mine. To his consternation Corliss finds it is gone from the safe. Sanford is found at last and appears at the office with the reports which satisfy the Federal sleuths. Corliss, enraged at Sanford knocks him down with a paper weight. Upon recovery Sanford, assumes charge of the office and asks for Mollie's resignation. He then went out for a moment while Mollie completed some dictation, and then left. Blythe enters just as a Federal man phones Sanford that Pop Carver told him that Blythe gave him the long lost mining reports. Blythe is caught in a trap.

CHAPTER XXXII.

"Who Did It?"

"IF old man Carver says I took him those mining reports he is a liar," declared Blythe, his voice regaining its suavity and effrontery after a mood. "And by the way, where is Mollie, the star of the North country."

"She resigned," Corliss answered, "this afternoon."

"Do you know her home address?" demanded Blythe, leaning forward. "She was the one who got in Dutch with old Carver. It looks to me as though it would be pretty handy for her to do him a favor; she'd do it. She's a clever kind from the farming districts."

Sterling Sanford raised his eyebrows and looked at Corliss.

"Do you think she could have had anything to do with this?" he asked, calmly. It was beginning to be fun to bait these bears together. He knew full well of Blythe's real infatuation for Mollie Mayhew. Now that his injured forehead was not hurting so much he could always be a little more forgiving. Then, too, as a chivalrous opponent who had gained the whip-hand in the battle he could not resist giving a little forbearance to the late president of the Mammoth Mining organization.

"What do you think of it?" demanded Corliss, darkly. "You asked for her resignation—and got it this afternoon."

"Mollie is out?" and Phil Blythe's face denoted real regret. "Why is that?"

"Oh, I just thought it would be for the best interest of the company. Miss Gladys Goodson is in her place."

"But, Ben," and there was wealth of meaning in Blythe's shifting eyes. "What do you think about that?"

"He didn't think about it," he said, "I did. And I think it was very clever of me. Ever since that girl from the country has been put on a pedestal there have been unpleasant incidents. What we need is the more practical kind of girl, like Gladys, one used to this kind of stock dealing. If I hadn't come across today with enough money to buy out old Carver for what he put into it, and a bit more, we'd all be tredding stone walks and cooling our foreheads against nice soft cell bars. Eh, Corliss?"

"You say you let this mining man dictate who you should hire?" demanded Phil Blythe, ruffling up. "Why, she was a wonderful little creature, the spark of the business. That girl could have sold a million dollars worth of stock a month to every rich old loafer in the clubs."

"Clubs are not trumps in this game, my dear Blythe; nor hearts; nor diamonds. Just plain old homely spades, and they'll be used to dig several graves, unless I learn the truth. Who stole these reports that were so important? Remember, there's a Federal plain clothes man sitting right outside of the telephone booth. He may look foolish, but he's got an awful wallop and there are about five more within a stone's throw. I'm the royal undertaker and will supervise the job if there's to be any murdering of either characters or souls."

There was dancing, vicious fire in the fine, clear eyes of Sterling Sanford by now. He took out a list, naming all the employes of the company in the office.

"I'm going to check now on the jury. Bring them in as I call them. You go down first, and you say you think she has acted suspiciously. Is that because you didn't have the luck in love that Corliss seemed to have, in winning her as his guest several times?"

Blythe stammered a minute.

"I never urged her to go to dinner or anywhere else."

"Then you're on one side of the list. Gladys Goodson told me that you did and I found out from another source that you tried to take her out and got sore at her. Bring in Miss Goodson."

"Who's boss here?" demanded Blythe, vehemently.

"I am, and in about five minutes you'll sign your resignation from the board of directors, and from all connection with this company. You're getting off lucky, for I don't want to ruin this company by having a newspaper scandal right now. It's that or jail for you. Call Miss Goodson."

The pretty black-haired stenographer entered the audience with a simpering smile, which faded quickly.

"Did you inform me that you knew of Blythe boasting of bringing Mollie Mayhew to a party of Corliss'—just to get Corliss sore?"

Ben Corliss, storm-tossed from the unsetting day's events, clenched his hand.

"Oh, that's what you meant by your boasts that afternoon? Well, I'll settle with you for this," he cried.

"Yes, sir," and Gladys looked embarrassed—most unusual for her.

"Call Miss Fitzway," Sanford briskly ordered. As the simpering woman came in he arose politely, and then asked with a sudden turn toward her.

"I would like to know if you have any animosity toward Miss Mollie Mayhew, who just left the office a little while ago, after her resignation?" he asked.

"Oh, no, Mr. Sanford, I think she was just the dearest, sweetest little thing I've ever seen in an office, even if the other girls thought her a bit forward for a country girl."

"Then you liked her?" asked Sanford dryly.

"Oh, we were on the best of friendly terms," simpered Miss Fitzway, "although not social equals."

"Sounds interesting, Miss Fitzway. I suppose you knew that one of the workers in the office removed from the safe some very valuable papers which would have ruined the company if I had not turned up in time with my professional mining reports and the United States geological survey figures?"

"I heard it," said Miss Fitzway. "Wasn't it dreadful? It almost gave me a fainting spell. I nearly swooned."

"Do you suspect that Miss Mollie Mayhew had anything to do with removing these from the open safe while the bookkeeper was down at the bank and while several visitors were in the office?"

A cunning suspicion crept into Miss Fitzway's eyes as she clasped her forehead in thought. Then she shook her head gravely and said three distinct times: "Stck! Stck! Stck!" between false teeth—which must be admitted was rather a clever parlor trick.

"Who would have thought it?" she shook her head once, twice, thrice. Then she removed a black-bordered handkerchief and wept a bitter tear. She seemed overwhelmed. She did not observe the almost hysterical winking of Phil Blythe. But the others did.

"And you suspect her?" asked Sanford, blandly.

"Why, of course, for that explains everything. The poor silly creature! I'm so sorry!" and she wiped a tear from the other eye.

"You should be sorry, Miss Fitzway. You'll need a bigger handkerchief in a few minutes. Perhaps Mr. Blythe will lend you one of the lavender silk ones I see in each sleeve. He'll need the other." As he spoke Sanford tapped three times sharply on the glass partition nearest the telephone switchboard. Came a scuffling of heavy, square-toed boots and the man called Peter rushed into the door of the private office grinning.

"Have you the finger prints of old Carver, and of this young lady known as Miss Mollie Mayhew?"

"Just got 'em from the chief. Want some more taken?"

"Yes, take this lady's—Miss Fitzway is her maiden name. And take those of the Boston Butterfly—his bachelor name is Phil Blythe, alias Jack McGillicurdy. And study them out right here."

Miss Fitzway almost swooned, but was caught in the arms of a growingly pleased Corliss. Phil Blythe was pulling on his yellow buckskin gloves and starting for the door. The gentleman called Peter, whose bulging biceps made it an easy task to stop him, jerked off the gloves and hastily compelled Phil Blythe to permit his handsomely manicured finger tips to be rubbed against a smeary little square of glass. This was snatched quickly by Sterling Sanford, who held it behind him for protection. Miss Fitzway, weeping, submitted to this same process. It was an outrage, she said, to inflict this insult upon her. She would have them understand that she was of a genteel, even if impoverished, family.

As Blythe stood in a corner of the office, covered by Mr. Peter's revolver in the hands of Sterling Sanford, the secret service man quickly examined the slides of the two finger-print sets. He nodded with a cackle of glee.

"Them's them, sir," he said, running to Sanford. "They was fresh on this bunch of reports, made today. They and the chief's with old Pop Carver's. Chief's are there because he took 'em away from Carver and Carver took 'em from this here Blythe, alias something else, who took 'em away from this here society lady, as she says, who took 'em from the safe. They're all today's marks, plain as can be; it's like a movie comic, ain't it?"

To the surprise of every one, Ben Corliss' voice excitedly burst in: "And are Mollie's there?"

"Sure not. She never touched 'em, or at least not for several days."

The queer look of exultation brought a surge of pity into Sterling Sanford's eyes. How he pitied this man who had played the game the wrong way for so many years.

As Blythe and Miss Fitzway stared almost unseeing at the telltale smudges on their fingers Corliss suddenly stuck forth his hands.

"Why don't you take mine?" he asked softly.

"We don't need yours," and Sanford's voice was certainly ragged with emotion. The other man looked up in surprise. The Western man continued: "I don't throw baby elephants when a man's head is turned away. And I'd hate to throw them at a real fellow even when he was looking at me."

"Well, sir, what's orders?" asked the man called Peter. "Shall I nip 'em now?" His eyes were sparkling with pardonable pride.

"No," and Sanford dreaded the expression on the two white faces. "They're not built of that stuff that needs handcuffs, or they wouldn't have tried to send an innocent country girl to jail. Just walk 'em out, and turn them over to the chief. They'll soon be with their old friend Pop Carver, who forged his wife's name to that check he bought the stock with, to buy Mollie Mayhew's own stock."

Sanford walked to the window and gazed on the fleeting crowds on the financial street below. Corliss sank into the big mahogany desk chair—the one which had been his, as president of Mammonth Mining Properties, Inc., until that cataclysmic afternoon.

As the door closed, and the Federal operative led the unhappy pair through the surprised and awed clerks and stenographers, Anna Carey leaned over to Gladys Goodson. In a low, hoarse whisper she volunteered:

"There seems to be dirt at the cross roads today, dearie."

Gladys Goodson shook her head rather miserably.

"Well, they've got a good new street cleaner on the job. I hope neither you nor I will get swept up."

Within the office, Corliss was rising, picking up his hat and walking stick. He lighted his cigarette with three distinctly worthless matches, aided by a fourth that burned less shakily.

"I hope nothing happens to Mollie, Mr. Sanford. She certainly got in with a bunch of hyenas," he said. "It was an escape for her—and me."

"I hope nothing happens to her, too * * * at least, nothing unpleasant."

He turned and each man looked the other squarely in the eye. It was not a look of hatred this time.

"You'll know where to find me, if you need me," said Corliss at the doorway. That portal was suddenly opened.

"And you'll know where to find me, Mr. Sanford. Me and you and the chief make a good team, and he works fast, don't we?" asked the Federal agent.

"By the way, why did the chief mention you as the 'man who folks call Peter?'" he asked.

"Well, you see it was this way. My mother could read novels in her youth, and my father couldn't read his own name. So she tricked him into signing his X on the birth registry, and having written there, 'Montmorency Stuyvesant Kelly,' he believed for a while that all was well. But when I grew to be 16 he looked at it pretty hard. I was just getting past the time when folks were stopping calling me 'laddie.' My father asked my mother what my church name was. When she told him, he took me out to a brickyard and whaled me for an hour. He told me it would save his arm if I changed my name to the fair old name of Peter. I believed my father. He was a strong man and devout. And, ever since, it isn't the people what calls me Peter, but I do it myself, in self-protection. My father is still alive, and will celebrate his ninety-fourth birthday next week."

Giants Who Have Really Lived

THERE never have been giants who stood "as high as a two-story house," but men and women of great size have really lived.

In the Museum of the Royal College of Surgeons, London, is the skeleton of one of history's noted giants. While traveling about to show himself to the public, he went under the name of "O'Brien," but his true name was Charles Byrne. Our record states that he reached a height of 8 feet, 4 inches. He died in 1783.

At about the time Byrne died, Patrick Cotter came into fame. He was even taller, measuring 8 feet 7 inches. He wore shoes that were 17 inches long.

While George the Fourth was Prince of Wales, he had a servant known as "Big Sam," who was almost 8 feet tall. Big Sam acted as porter, and I fancy that he took care of the trunks in fine fashion.

A Chinese who showed himself to the Western world in 1880 was 8 feet tall. His name was Chang Woo Gow. Two years later, Marian, "the Amazon Queen," let her claims be known. She was two inches taller than the Chinese giant.

The legend of Hercules may have grown up around a man who was very large and strong. We know that there were men of giant stature in ancient times. The Roman writer, Pliny, tells of an Arabian named Gabara who was 9 feet 9 inches tall. That figure was probably too high, but we know that Gabara was shown to the Roman public because of his great size.

RIDDLES.

Quite a number of years ago, I discovered a card in a package of candied popcorn. This card contained riddles, and I thought it quite a prize. It has occurred to me that readers of the Corner might enjoy a few riddles now and then. Here are a few:

How do we know that Adam and Eve had sugar on their table?

What is it that is broken every time we speak about it?

What is the difference between a jeweler and a jailer?

Those questions will give you something to puzzle over until tomorrow, when the answers will be printed. Do you know any good riddles? If so, send them to me and I shall try to print them in the Corner.

A. Writing was first taught either in Egypt or in that part of Babylonia known as "Sumer." No one has been able to prove certainly in which of those countries the first picture-writing was done. The names of the first teachers of writing are not known.

THE HOUSEKEEPER

By NANCY CAREY.

MRS. WARD, of 1106 Virginia avenue, who sent us the receipt for eggs stuffed deliciously with ham, sent us also a receipt for doughnuts which, unlike the one I gave you some time ago calls for sour milk. Many people prefer sour milk to sweet milk doughnuts; they have a decidedly different flavor and are most delicious when well made.

Despite the snow which is so rapidly disappearing there is a hint of spring in the atmosphere. I have, regardless of my good resolutions, been tempted and indulged in fresh strawberries, for the hint is also noticeable in the markets. Strawberries are still, however, much too high for more than a casual glance, for most of us. If, however, you are especially fond of them and are sorely tempted, cut your dinner menu to very brief proportions and splurge! I think I shall give you today a supper menu which should allow very comfortably for fresh strawberries. The nut bread can be made the day before and do for several days and is therefore not costly. The receipt for pea soup with frankfurters was published on January 9.

Menu.
Pea Soup with Frankfurters
Nut Bread
Pear Salad with Cottage Cheese
Strawberry Shortcake
Tea or Coffee

Sour Milk Doughnuts.

Mix one cup of sugar with three tablespoonfuls of melted butter, add two eggs, one cup of sour milk in which has been dissolved one level teaspoonful of soda, one-half of a nutmeg grated, a pinch of salt and a level teaspoonful of baking powder mixed with sufficient flour to make as soft a dough as can be handled. Fry in deep hot fat, turning only once.

Nut Bread.

Mix well one egg, one cup brown sugar, one cup milk, two cups flour, two teaspoonfuls baking-powder, and one cup of chopped or broken walnuts. Turn into a buttered loaf pan and let stand for about fifteen minutes and then place in a moderate oven and gradually increase the heat in the oven until it is known as a "hot" oven. Bake for about twenty-five minutes.

Pear salad is made by mounding fresh cottage cheese over a mound of canned pears placed on crisp lettuce leaves and garnished with mayonnaise. The salad can be arranged and placed in the ice-box to chill or theingredients chilled separately.

Strawberry Shortcake.

Wash, remove the stems and crush one quart of fresh strawberries. Add to them two thirds of a cup of sugar and allow to stand in the ice box for at least two hours. Make a dough as for biscuit, handling as lightly as possible of one cup of flour and two heaping tablespoonfuls of butter, enough milk to make a soft dough and a pinch of salt. Pat the dough out and form it into separate pieces two and a half inches across and two thirds of an inch thick. Bake in a quick oven twelve minutes or until well browned. This quantity should make four individual portions if the directions are followed. When the shortcake is baked remove from the oven, insert a silver knife carefully in at the edge of each just enough to allow you to break the biscuits open easily, place some of the berries and juice on the lower half which has been put on a plate, return the top of the shortcake, cover with berries and juice, and garnish with whipped cream.

Only Woman Player In Orchestra of 87

Minneapolis, Feb. 17 (By A. P.). Disregarding conventions which have ruled out women from many ranking symphony orchestras in the United States, Miss Jenny Cullen, a first violinist, continues her post as the only woman player in the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra of eighty-seven pieces.

The fact that she occupies a first row position near the conductor's stand is not altogether the result of courtesy to her, for Miss Cullen is one of the ten first violinists with the symphony. She has appeared several times as soloist at the Sunday "popular" concerts.

Miss Cullen for many years was concert-master of the famous State Symphony orchestra of Sydney, Australia.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

HOOKWORM.

HOOKWORM disease—extreme anemia, pot belly, great laziness, and general inability to work fast or long, or to do much studying or thinking, is almost limited to white children of school age. Such is the opinion of Smillie and Augustine. These gentlemen have spent many years studying this problem in many sections of this and other countries and they know what they are talking about. They group people into six classes from the standpoint of infestation with hookworm.

Group 1 are negative. The other five groups represent varying degrees of infestation: Very light, light, moderate, heavy and very heavy.

The mild infestations are somewhat important. The persons in that group help to spread the worms. Perhaps they have not as much pep, ginger, and ambition as they would otherwise have. But they are not of great importance from the public health standpoint.

Hookworm infestation is gradually acquired and gradually lost. A child gets a moderate dose and does nothing about it. He does not change the toilet arrangements of his home, nor his source of water and food; he continues to go barefooted and he does not take treatment for hookworm. In consequence, year by year he becomes increasingly infested.

On the other hand, rather regardless of the way he lives, when he gets to be about 14 years old he begins to overcome his worms. By the time he is 20 years old he has reduced the number he carries until he is classed as one with a very light infestation, or somewhere thereabouts.

Negro children are naturally more resistant to infection. They overcome it or hold it in check at 8 years of age as well as a white child does at 16.

So much for the difference in personal health. Now for a difference from the group standpoint.

The public health control measure for adult negroes and for city and town children for all with light infestation is the building of sanitary privies, or sewers, or a public water supply, or several of these. If any treatment for hookworm is given it should be by family physicians, and principally as a means of improving the health and increasing the energy of individuals.

It should be on an individual, voluntary basis.

The public health control measures for white children of school age living in the country, and particularly on farms, is the giving of hookworm treatment to one and all, the building of sanitary privies and promotion of the habit of wearing shoes.

Smillie and Augustine advise health departments fighting hookworm to spend their money and concentrate their work on white country school children. All such should have at least one standard treatment of hookworm medicine. A standard treatment is one that when taken in one dose will remove 90 to 95 per cent of all worms. This can be done with carbon tetrachloride, ascaridol, chenopodium, thymol or betanapthol, or two of these combined. Probably the first two are the most efficient.

WIVES OF TOMORROW

By FRANCES M'DONALD

The Weak Brother

DEAR MISS McDONALD. For some time I have been thinking of asking you to help me, so I decided to do so today.

I am at a loss to understand one I thought was as near perfect as human beings could be. I had been going with a man for several years. He seemed all devotion to me, taking me to the theater, movies, dinners; also sending me fruit, flowers and candy—and telling me to find an appropriate house where we could live after marriage.

When he was in the city he called every other evening and Sundays—telling me I must not have company every night—for I was employed and I needed rest—so I could give my attention to my work. When out of the city he wrote me every day with special delivery, or telegrams on Sundays and holidays—always telling of his devotion.

Many times he told me I had no idea what a good woman's love meant to him. For he claims since he became acquainted with me he has been a different man. Once he said if I should fail him he would lose faith in God and mankind and that any man who is not jealous of a woman does not love her—and so asked me not to entertain gentlemen company and not to attend any of the organizations and dances. I agreed, and he left.

For several weeks I did not get a letter and I wrote to him inquiring of his silence. I received an answer telling me he had been very ill in a hospital. I wrote telling him how sorry I was learning of his illness. The next letter said he had recovered sufficiently to be out and he was preparing to come to me immediately. Then after a couple of days I received a letter stating he did not think he ever could come back. Naturally I thought him ill again and wrote him. The next letter stated he was too ill to receive, read or answer any letters and signed by his wife.

I know this man was not married when he went to the hospital. I wrote to him telling him of the letter I had received, stating if he was a married man I could not correspond with him. If he had married, I hoped he had chosen wisely and well and wished him happiness—but you, Miss McDonald, will not know what this wish cost me—for I did care much for him—I thought him honest, upright, loyal and true to me as I had been to him.

I received another short note from him opening with "My dearest and only" and telling me how loyal I had been and how much he valued my associations; but he neither denied his marriage or neither did he affirm it—signing it "Ever your faithful friend." Let me know just what you think of his deception and what would you think if you were in my stead. DECEIVED.

What would I think if I were in your stead? I would think myself fortunate to have escaped a vast amount of misery. Which would you rather be—you or the wife? He addresses you AFTER his marriage and calls you his "dearest and only"! In your place I should feel much as the man did who drove his car from under a bridge here recently just as the bridge collapsed into the road! A narrow escape in both cases.

You see there are men of just EVERY conceivable kind in the world—very few all bad—and none all good. Yours was one of those who would simply love to do right—but seem unable to accomplish that feat. And my dear child, however much we may sympathize with that type of man we all must admit that they can cause an unconscionable amount of trouble. So at best he was no acquisition, and at worst he may have been involved in complications that would have entered him in still another class—and not a higher one. So in any case you have cause to be grateful that at least you are not bound for life to a man utterly incapable of making his own decisions and making good his word.

Just accept the fact that he WAS NOT all those things you BELIEVED him to be—and that as a fact he was at best a weak brother on the firing line of life. AND then forget him. Certainly that is what I should do in your stead—and that is what you wanted to know—was it not?

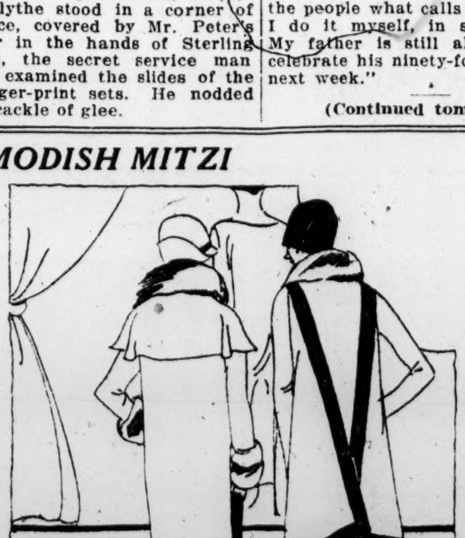
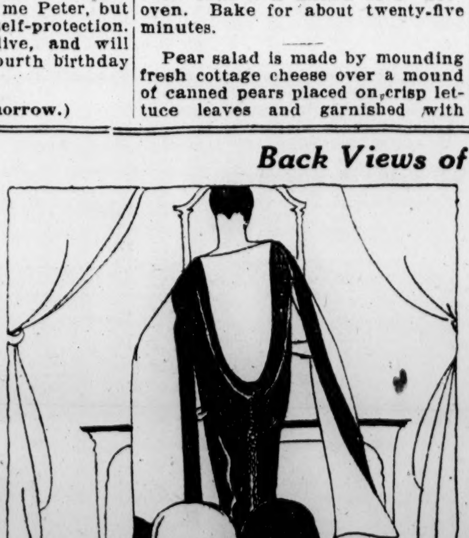
Back Views of New Fashions

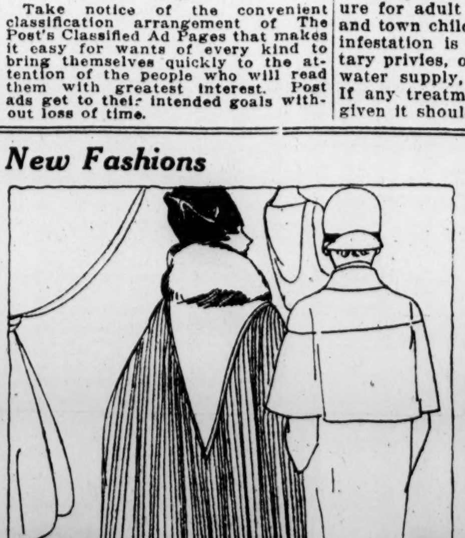
By Jay V. Jay



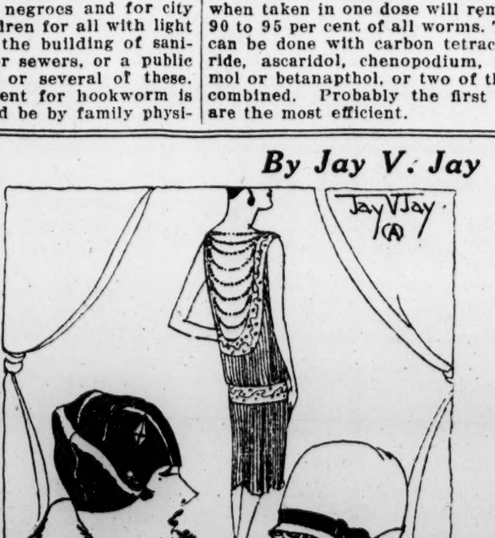
The sma-test of spring fashions are known by their backs—the short cape that reaches just below the shoulders, the long cape that swings to within an inch of the coat hem are both smart. So are all the capes of all the various lengths between. These two backs admire another—



An equally fashionable back that belongs to a negligee of purple and silver. The negligee pretends to a deep decolletage—mere bluff. It's a strip of the same silver tissue that has been used to line the long wing sleeves. The window shoppers turn away to show you new, high-crowned felt hats.



Polly and Mitzi, although not accustomed to turning their backs to the audience, are obliging enough to let you see the back of their new spring wraps. Mitzi's is a pleated cape with a V-shaped yoke. Polly's is a tweed coat with a short cape, fitted to a trimly cut shoulder yoke.



Admit that the gown they are admiring is worth attention. It is an evening gown whose back is almost entirely formed of strings of beads looped from a scallop of embroidery. Now, just before they pass out of the picture, notice Mitzi's draped tam and Polly's creased felt hat.

DISTRICT NATIONAL BANK INCREASE IS APPROVED

Stockholders Vote for Plan to Apportion Shares to the Present Owners.

STEAMBOAT ISSUE UP 22

By F. W. PATTERSON.

Unanimous approval of stockholders of the District National Bank was given yesterday to the proposal of the board of directors to increase the capital stock of the institution from $550,000 to $1,000,000.

Under the plan voted on, present shareholders will profit in the immediate benefits to accrue by the program, as it is proposed that each shall subscribe for 50 per cent of his present holdings at $175 a share. Last recorded sales of this security on the Washington Stock Exchange was at 233¼ and "asked" price yesterday was 245.

A reasonable proportion of the shares to be issued will be distributed among persons who are not now stockholders at a price to be fixed by the directorate, and the amount received in excess of $100 per share will pass to surplus.

With the new financing completed and capital at $1,000,000, the working fund will be of much larger proportions, with surplus and undivided profits in excess of $800,000.

Officers of the bank are Robert N. Harper, president; Joshua Evans, jr., executive vice president; W. P. Lipscomb, C. J. Goeckler, N. L. Sansbury, vice presidents; Hilleary L. Offutt, jr., vice president and cashier; Barnard & Johnson, attorneys; Wharton E. Lester, counsel and trust officer; B. L. Colton, assistant trust officer.

Boat Line Stock Gains.

Volume of trading improved but little on the Washington Stock Exchange yesterday and many quotations were easier. Norfolk & Washington Steamboat Co. proved the market feature with a climb of 22 points to 290, but despite the advance in price two shares was the limit of the turnover. Liberty National Bank was in good demand and netted a 2-point gain on the day to close at 213 and American Security & Trust Co., changed hands at 399.

Mergenthaler Linotype, whose regular quarterly dividend announcement was made yesterday, sold in a small block at 215, but Lanston Monotype softened to 82½ on sales of 37 shares. Potomac Electric Power preferred was unchanged at 108, as were the interim certificates at 107¼. Washington Gas Light sold at 73 in a small lot and Merchants Transfer & Storage preferred was easier at 101. National Mortgage and Investment preferred touched new low ground in selling at 7⅞, with but 40 shares changing hands when "asked" climbed to 8¼ to put a stop to further trading.

Bond transactions were restricted to Southern Building 6½s, which eased to 101; Washington Gas Light 5s sold at par, Washington Railway & Electric 4s moved at 80¾, and Capital Traction 5s gained to 99½.

Larner and Baden in New York.

John B. Larner, president of the Washinton Loan & Trust Co., and William M. Baden, trust officer of the same institution, are attending the trust company division of the American Bankers Association conference in New York which began yesterday and will continue through Friday.

George O. Vass, vice president and cashier of the Riggs National Bank, will attend the banquet of the Norfolk Bankers association to be held in Norfolk, Va., tomorrow and will also represent the Washington chapter, American Institute of Banking, at the annual banquet of the Richmond chapter, which will take place on the same day.

Bank Publishes Monthly.

President Harry V. Haynes of the Farmers & Merchanics National Bank announced yesterday that the first edition of a monthly publication, which will be called "Under the Dome," will be issued shortly. The booklet will be issued each month and will serve as a means of keeping the stockholders and customers of the bank informed of current events in the progress of the institution from month to month.

Savings Show Big Gain.

Savings deposits of $8,082,400,000 on January 1 as reported to the Federal Reserve Board by 884 banks in selected centers throughout the country, were nearly $100,000,000 in excess of the figure on December 1. Statements of reporting banks showed increases in 8 of the 12 districts, slight decreases being reported in the Richmond, of which Washington is a part; St. Louis, Kansas City and Dallas districts. As compared with a year ago increases for the banks included amounted to nearly $450,000,000, distributed through all the districts.

Women to Attend Dinner.

In addition to the presence of Miss Ellen O'Donnell, manager of the publicity department of the Union Trust Co., Rochester, N. Y., and chairman of the national women's committee of the American Institute of Banking, at the Washington chapter banquet at the Willard on Saurday evening, the banquet committee is just in receipt of acceptances from Miss Grace Corey, Federal Reserve Bank, Cleveland, chairman women's committee, Cleveland chapter; Miss Helen Wolff, associate consul, Philadelphia chapter; Miss Hazel E. Foster, Eutaw Savings Bank, Baltimore, chairman women's committee, and Miss R. Trezayent Harrison, Central National Bank, Richmond, Va., chairman of chapter and women's committee.

Thompson to Lecture.

Eliot H. Thomson, instructor of the Washington chapter, American Institute of Banking class in banking fundamentals, will lecture tonight on the more intimate side of bank operation and practice. The series of lectures conducted by Mr. Thomson, while primarily based on banking fundamentals, has proven one of the most popular of the season's series, and the attendance has not been limited to those who are at the beginning of their banking career but has included many prominent bankers who have been attracted by the practical treating of a subject in which they are vitally interested.

CURB MARKET REVIEW.

New York, Feb. 17 (By the Associated Press).—Trading turned dull on a cessation of selling pressure in today's curb market which closed irregularly higher. Chief speculative interest centered in the Latin-American Oils, Carib advancing 2 points to 17⅝, and closing near the top and Leonard and the Lago issues improving fractionally. There was little demand for the high priced petroleum shares, but most of them closed fractionally higher.

Richmond Radiator was one of the outstanding strong spots in the industrial group, climbing 2 points to 19½ on the publication of a favorable 1925 earnings report. Coal, Baking & Electrical Refrigeration issues held steady.

Devoe & Raynolds B made further recovery on short covering by climbing 2 points to 52 and Centrifugal Pipe advanced 3 points to 23. Substantial gains also were recorded by Gillette Safety Razor, Midvale Steel and Woodward Iron.

Nickel Plate, new stock, was under pressure, closing 1½ points lower at 106½.

Further liquidation took place in the public utility group. Net losses of a point or more were recorded by American Superpower B, Southeastern Power (new) and United Light & Power. Strong buying support developed, however, for Northern Ohio Power and United Gas Improvement, which showed net gains of 2¼ and 1⅛ points, respectively.

MOVEMENTS ARE MIXED IN SLACKENING MARKET

Best Stocks Remain Strongest; Firmness General Among Rails.

CALL FUNDS 4¾ PER CENT

New York, Feb. 17.—A mixture of movements marked less active stock market trading today. Investment and high grade speculative issues were well bought and, in the main, changes were on the upside, but railroad equipment shares suffered from a bear attack before staging a late recovery and here and there elsewhere in the list losses of a point or two were showing at the close of a session in which the turnover only approximated 1,250,000 shares.

In the confusing cross currents of trading which imparted an unusual degree of irregularity to price movements during the major portion of the session, the chief characteristic was the slackening of activity. It was evident that the opposing speculative forces were sparring for time, as it were, but in the last hour rather much the whole market firmed definitely and the close was moderately strong.

The best stocks also were the strongest as had been the case right along, and in some of these gains ranging up to 5 points or so were scored. With a 3-point rise, Consolidated Gas went to a new high price in recent years. General Electric, although closing by more than 3 points under the day's best; Allied Chemical, American Can, with a rise of 6 5-6; U. S. Steel, General Motors, and other such stocks, were notably firm.

Tobacco products was bid up sharply for a gain of 3 1-2 points; Savage Arms gained 3 points; Kelsey Wheel 4 3-4; Famous Players-Lasky and Remington Typewriter, 3 1-2; Hudson Motors, 4 1-4; Wright Aero, 3, and so on. International Combustion Engineering, U. S. Distributing, Allied Chemical, American Radiator, Underwood Typewriter, National Biscuit, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery-Ward, International Match preferred, Coca Cola, Electric Autolite and others made slightly less substantial progress toward higher levels.

Firmness was general among the railroad shares, despite a decline in car loadings during the week of February 6, compared with the corresponding week in last year. Atlantic Coast Line led the way upward with a 5-point gain, and Atchison, St. Louis Southwestern, Seaboard Air Line and some more improved on fairly urgent demand. Stocks of hard coal roads made further response to the coal strike settlement, Delaware, Lackawanna & Western showing a gain of 3⅛, and Pittsburgh & West Virginia rising 4¼ on a light turnover.

Oils were only steady, despite news of a decrease in production of crude petroleum last month.

Whether the bears had become convinced they could not break down the general market structure was a matter of conjecture, but there was no question that pressure from that quarter had relaxed. On the other hand, the support tendered the market by the bulls was half-hearted, and consequently with trading in the hands of the professional element, rallies did not extend far.

Attacks on the list were restricted to the equipments and a few vulnerable spots, such as National Tea, which lost 5 points; American Express, which sold down 3¼; United Fruit, which lost a like amount, and Utah Copper, 2 points lower. Postum Cereal rallied after slumping to a new low level and closed unchanged; United States Rubber closed but ½ point down after having been more than 2 points lower, and Dodge Bros. A stock, which went off about 2 points to a new low record for the year, later recovered fully and a fraction besides.

Baldwin Locomotive issues were the most severely depressed of the equipments. The common came back 2 points from its low of the day to finish 1½ net lower, and the preferred lost 1¾.

Call money was unchanged at 4¾ per cent, despite further calling of loans. Foreign exchange was firm, with sterling and French francs slightly higher. Norwegian kroner were up 22 points, Danish kroner 15 points higher and Japanese yen up 50 points to a new high level, or within 3½ cents of parity.

Shorts' Ungainly Looks Arouse Street's Mirth

By S. S. FONTAINE.

New York, Feb. 17.—Wall street goes by contraries. When all the good news is out it heaves a sigh and liquidates, and when all the bad news is out it cracks a smile and celebrates. And today it looked very much as if a smile was beginning to lurk in one corner of its mouth, if it was not laughing up its sleeve; and there was a strong suspicion that the object that aroused its risibles was the ungainly appearance of the short interest.

Whether these birds of prey have extended their pinions and strained their backs to the breaking point is one of the questions now engaging the analytical talents of market observers. It has been shown by experience in past markets that the correction of a technical condition on the long side of the market after a long advance usually results in a swing to the very opposite extreme, and instead of being loaded with stocks, the outside public gets caught in a bear trap.

* * * *

The character of the selling in the last ten days shows that the bear pressure conducted by experienced operators has been accomplished by a large volume of inexperienced selling in issues which have a small floating supply and are hard to borrow in the loan crowd.

There are two or three cases that might be cited where the stocks of companies having less than a total of 200,000 shares are harboring a short interest of 20,000 shares or more. If, from a company of that size, be deducted 100,000 shares for control and another 50,000 for the normally placed stock, it leaves a floating supply of only 50,000 shares. And if, from this be deducted the 20,000 shares short, the actual supply is only 30,000 shares.

* * * *

When a condition of that kind comes about the shorts find that, instead of having a floating supply of 100,000 shares or more to accommodate them, they actually have to buy what amounts to control of the stock that is loose in the market. All this is ancient experience to those who make a regular custom of going short of stocks. Their practice is to sell only those issues which are easy to borrow and where the floating supply is large.

* * * *

At the present juncture, such issues as Foundation Co., Hudson Motors, Jordan Motors, Savage Arms and numerous others of the specialty type are lending either at a premium or "flat," which means there is a large, short interest in them. Now whether the inexperienced public, which undoubtedly constitutes the larger share of this short interest, has not become involved in a situation which may result in a bear stampede when the general market turns upward, is a question.

* * * *

Business reports from all parts of the country are optimistic. Bank clearings are running at $8,000,000,000 a week, which means there is no falling off in volume of transactions. The price level of commodities remain uncannily stable, thus assuring good profits on the sale of merchandise. There is no strong bear argument to justify heavy liquidation except that stocks have had a long advance. But with dividends and profits high, this cuts no figure. The part of wisdom at this time, it would appear, is to buy good stocks in the high grade specialty class or among the standard industrials and rails and wait for the short selling campaign to be turned into a rout of the bears. Before the bull market culminates it is likely a big squeezing movement will take place in a number of the more volatile issues, just as has been the case before the end of other big bull swings.

* * * *

"Well," said the gossip, "the boys that have been joyriding in Jordan have evidently been using the clear vision windshield."

"Why?"

"They haven't been able to detect the low visibility of the floating supply."

"How so?"

"The entire stock outstanding consists of only 126,000 shares of which, it is conservative to say, not over one-quarter is available for Wall street trading."

"Yes?"

"Well, a house that specializes in the stock estimates the short interest of 40,000 shares."

* * * *

"Hudson is the strongest motor in the list," said the customers' man. "They say there's a big short interest in it, but they are selling it into a sack."

"So it seems," said the senior partner. "And do you know who the gossips say is holding the bag?"

"Can't guess."

"Edsel Ford."

* * * *

Optimism is the middle name of the Mellon family. As everbody knows, the Secretary of the Treasury is the biggest bull on his council, with the possible exception of George F. Baker. And so it is not surprising that Richard B. Mellon, president of the Mellon National Bank, of Pittsburgh, sailing on the Mauretania for the Mediterranean, joined in the family chorus thus:

* * * *

"From present indications I expect the busines year of 1926 to be better than 1925 was throughout the country generally.

"Fundamental conditions underlying business are sound and favorable. The steel business in the vicinity of Pittsburgh is showing a great improvement over a year ago. Steel rolling mills are operating at greater capacity and railroad orders are coming in in larger volume than this time a year ago. Grain prices, I notice, have fallen off, which is as it should be

"In my opinion the stock market has not been overbought in view of our phenomenal prosperity, and it should go higher. A few specialties in the market have apparently been overbought, but these conditions have been quickly righted by the market itself.

* * * *

"Bank deposits in our section of the country are showing substantial increases over last year and all reports that I get show that business is thoroughly sound.

* * * *

"Clearing up of the coal situation should help the hard coal railroads, and they should show greater prosperity than they have in some time.

"As a whole, I see nothing at all to worry about regarding the business of the country. This should be a year of phenomenal prosperity."

* * * *

"I see," said the cynic, "there's going to be a subway consolidation."

"Indeed," said the innocent straphanger, "where'd you see that?"

"The morning papers say Wall street is planning a sardine merger."

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, Feb. 17 (By A. P.).—Moderate early offerings were absorbed by covering and trade buying in the cotton market today and after selling at 19.43, May rallied to 19.57 and closed at 19.52; the general market closed steady at net advances of 5 to 7 points.

The market opened steady at a decline of 1 to 4 points under overnight selling orders and liquidation or local pressure which appeared to be encouraged by continued good weather in the South and talk of an easier spot basis in some of the Southern markets. March sold off to 19.98 and October to 18.11 in the first few minutes. Bearish sentiment was considerably in evidence owing to the talk of good progress with early farm work, and apprehensions that the reports of an easing basis or a poor spot demand might be followed by weakness in that quarter. Enough covering by near month shorts combined with trade buying, absorbed these early offerings, however, and the early afternoon market was steadier.

Early sellers appeared to be disappointed over the failure of offerings to become heavier and were rebuying in late trading when March sold up to 20.11 and October to 18.21, net advances of 7 to 11 points on active positions. Closing prices were 3 to 5 points off from the best under realizing.

Active buying of March developed around the 20-cent level in early trading, which was regarded as indicating that a considerable interest was still outstanding, which evidently had a tendency to check selling for short account.

Receipts of cotton at Boston today included 100 bales of American cotton reshipped from Liverpool, making 1,490 so far returned from abroad. This cotton was supposed to be part of the staple cotton recently imported resold in Liverpool for shipment to this country.

Exports today, 13,361 bales, making 5,760,269 so far this season. Port receipts 12,122. United States port stocks 1,489,109.

"Soundness is the present outstanding characteristic of business," says the National Bank of Commerce in New York in its monthly review of current market conditions. "Operations are steady at satisfactory levels. In fact, there has been little change in conditions within the month. A high rate of merchandise car loadings, activity in cotton and silk manufacture and in distributive lines, a prospective excellent volume of automobile orders, and fairly general maintenance of building operations, are indications from varied fields of the satisfactory position of industry. Iron and steel output made further gains in January, although a slight recession has since occurred. Taken as a whole, business is proceeding at an even pace and is notably free from extremes either of activity or dullness. This, in itself, provides a favorable outlook."

Ray Consolidated Copper reports net income of $1,096,100 for the final quarter of 1925, before depletion and Federal taxes, which brought the total for 1925 to $3,715,413 after depreciation but before depletion and Federal taxes. This compares with $2,389,078 in 1924.

New contracts aggregating $9,000,000 were signed by the Foundation Co., in January, a record for that month. Directors declared the regular quarterly dividend of $2 a share.

In an article written by Seymour Cromwell shortly before his death and published today in the Outlook, the former president of the New York Stock Exchange states that American business is now largely owned by the small investors and that in comparison with the few hundred thousands who constituted the investing class before the war there are 15,000,000 persons who own securities.

Increased demand for rayon products has prompted the Industrial Rayon Corporation to form a service department, in charge of knitting and weaving experts who issue bulletins embodying the solution of actual problems in the new industry, for distribution to customers.

January earnings of the Barnsdall Corporation from its California properties amounted to $361,000 after depreciation and depletion allowances. Virtually all of this was derived from holdings in the Rosecrans-Athens field, where the company owns 310 acres with 26 producing wells and 14 drillings.

F. J. Lisman & Co. report that outgoing invoices of the Rima Steel Corporation, Budapest, for last half of 1925, amounted to $3,669,000 against, $2,705,000 in the corresponding period of 1924.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Feb. 17 (By the Associated Press).—New setbacks in the price of wheat today resulted largely from word of a large grain-trade failure in Great Britain and from dearth of foreign demand. The wheat market here closed unsettled, ¾c to 1¼c net lower, May, 1.65⅜ to 1.65½, and July, 1.48⅛ to 1.48⅜. Corn finished 1⅛c to 1⅝c off, oats a shade to ⅜c down and provisions varying from 20c decline to a rise of 5c.

Depression of wheat values here was added to by a sharp break in Liverpool quotations on future deliveries, although the fact that prices for immediate delivery wheat at Liverpool were relatively firm counted as something of an offset. On the other hand, rain and snow likely to benefit the winter wheat crop in Kansas and Nebraska tended to give a further advantage to sellers. However, pressure to sell slackened when evidence began to appear that strong interests were accumulating wheat at around $1.65 for May (new). Meanwhile, other traders pointed out that primary receipts keep up well and that with only poor export demand no domestic shortage has asserted itself yet.

At the day's low point the wheat market was about 2c a bushel down. To some extent the rallies which ensued were brought about by a cold wave forecast that caused some apprehension for the safety of the growing crop. Advices of alternative freezing and thawing in the more northerly sections of the winter wheat era were also a steadying influence. Export sales at the seaboard, though, were less than 100,000 bushels.

Liberal receipts did much to pull down the price of corn. Liquidating sales on the part of holders were in progress, as well as speculative selling. Arrivals of oats were small.

CATHOLIC U. TROUNCES PRINCETON QUINTET, 37-25

Lefty Thomas Signs, Staff Bolstered

He and Humphreys Only Southpaws Now in Fold.

Five More Exhibition Games Scheduled by Nationals.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

TAMPA, Fla., Feb. 17.—The list of Washington's unsigned ball players, whatever their number, was reduced by one today. President Clark C. Griffith disclosed the cheering information that Pitcher Clarence (Lefty) Thomas is the most recent player to come to terms. It had been the general impression that Thomas previously had been signed up.

With "Dutch" Ruether, the Nats' only veteran southpaw raising a fuss, Thomas and Arthur Humphreys are the only lefthand pitchers now with the team. "Lefty" showed a lot of stuff last season and if his control is only half way good, has a fine chance of making good. He might be termed a Washington boy, for he was raised not far from the Capital City, graduating from Lynchburg college and matriculating at Georgetown university in 1924.

He remained at the Hilltop only two weeks, however, becoming homesick and hiking South where he played semipro ball until the Nats bought him from Nashville, where he had played only about 10 days. He is but 22 years of age now and Manager Harris predicts a great diamond future for him.

FIVE additional exhibition games have been listed by the Nationals, according to President Clark Griffith, who announces that the books now are closed, unless he gets such a flattering offer that he can not afford to turn it down.

Two of these games are with the Buffalo International leaguers, whom the Harrismen play at Palmetto on March 11 and here on March 17. Another pair will be against the Brooklyn Robins—here on March 24 and at Clearwater the following day—while the other contest booked will be the annual meeting of Mike Martin's rookies and the Cuban all-stars, made up of the best of the island players in this section.

This fracas will be staged here on Monday, March 8, which means that there will be a big slump in the cigar output of the United States on that day, for Tampa's entire Cuban delegation closes up shop and turns out to see its representatives in action.

These additions make the Nats' Grapefruit league schedule as follows:

March 6, Braves at St. Petersburg; 8, Rookies vs. Cuban All-Stars, at Tampa; 11, Buffalo at Palmetto; 17, Buffalo at Tampa; 18, Phillies at Tampa; 19, Phillies at Bradenton; 20, Giants at Sarasota; 23, Reds at Tampa; 24, Dodgers at Tampa; 25, Dodgers at Clearwater; 27, 29, 30, Giants at Tampa.

April 2, Columbus at Quitman, Ga.; 3, Rochester at Waycross, Ga.; 4, Columbus at Ft. Benning, Ga.; 5, Giants at Birmingham; 6 7, Giants at Augusta; 8, Giants at Atlanta; 9, Giants at Norfolk; 10, 11, Giants at Washington.

High School Basketball Remains in Tie for Year; Central Vetoes Replay

CENTRAL and Eastern fives will not play again to settle the public high championship, which was deadlocked in the "no contest" game Tuesday. Two telephone conferences between Principals Charles Hart, of Eastern, and Alvin W. Miller, of Central, held yesterday afternoon resulted in the announcement that "the matter is an absolutely closed one."

Principal Miller said that inasmuch as Coach Coggins, Faculty Athletic Adviser Kimbel, the Central team and others at the school were opposed to playing another game, he would prefer that the matter be dropped. This the Eastern head agreed to do.

While Central was against the play-off, Eastern from the smallest of the February "rookies" to Principal Hart was anxious to have the race settled. Asked if there was a possibility of the matter coming before the board of principals, Mr. Hart said that under no consideration would Eastern take that step.

Principal Miller said last night that the Central team had been under a terrific strain and that inasmuch as it still has an extensive schedule to complete he was opposed to the game.

Chicago Obtains Scott; Hooper, Kerr Let Go

Chicago, Feb. 17 (By A. P.).—Three major changes have been made in the roster of the Chicago White Sox, with the signing of Everett Scott, veteran league shortstop, and the releasing of Outfielder Harry Hooper and Pitcher Dick Kerr.

Scott, who holds the world's record for consecutive games played, was unconditionally released several weeks ago by Washington. He is the fourth shortstop on the Sox roster.

Hooper, a veteran of seventeen years in the American league, was unconditionally released. Kerr, who distinguished himself in the ill-starred championship series with Cincinnati in 1919, was sold to San Francisco.

Pros' $10,000 Offer Rejected by Eckersall

Chicago, Feb. 17 (By A. P.).—Walter Eckersall, of Chicago, former all-American quarterback and one of the nation's outstanding critics, today declined the presidency of the proposed American Professional Football league at a salary of $10,000 a year. Eckersall explained that he desired to continue his relations with amateur athletics begun 24 years ago.

Indians Take Contest at Hilltop

Georgetown Has Bad Luck With Its Shooting.

Kahn Visiting Star With Six Field Goals.

IT'S the balls that go through the rim and not the ones that hit the iron or the backboard that count 2 points in a basketball game. Georgetown University's five is probably aware of that fact as it nurses a 26-25 defeat administered by the William and Mary courtmen last night in the Ryan gymnasium.

That explanation is made without taking a single gram of credit away from the Indians, who made the most of every opportunity afforded them and outplayed Georgetown in the final minutes when baskets resembled nuggets to the teams.

But for some reason, the ball just would not drop into the net for the Hilltoppers. Time after time, Georgetown passed its way into "snowbird" scoring positions only to have the ball "rim" the basket and on an equal number of occasions the Georgetown tossers fired from long range with the same luck.

THE heroic role for the William and Mary was borne by one Owen Kahn. He was mild against Catholic University in the first game of the Indians' three-day visit; gave George Washington a scare the next evening and proved the downfall of Georgetown last night.

It was his five field goals that kept his team on virtually even terms with the Hilltoppers for some 38 minutes of play and his sixth basket which clinched the victory for William and Mary.

Gitlitz, Nork and Johannes gave their usual exhibition for Georgetown, while Vucmanic led the scorers with six points.

It was the final home game of the season for the Hilltoppers and was by far the closest of the present campaign. The lead changed hands five times and the score was tied twice.

They will play 250-point blocks, it was announced today, and follow each block with 25 points of three-cushion billiards.

THE PECK MEMORIAL CHURCH GYMNASIUM, IN GEORGETOWN, HAS PRODUCED SOME OF THE BEST INdividuals and teams in the District during the last five years. The senior quintet has always been the pet combination and twice finished second to the Anacostia Eagles for the championship. E. five for the runner-up position in the Sunday School league. Pictured below are (left to right, top row), Buddy Hart, Frank Athey, Norman Saul and Herbert Tucker. Johnston McAuley is seen below.

Greb-Walker Fight Is Planned on Coast

Los Angeles, Feb. 17 (By A. P.).—Plans for a Jack Dempsey-Harry Wills championship bout here next May have been discarded and a battle between Welterweight Champion Walker and Harry Greb for the latter's middleweight title, substituted, Jack Kearns, manager for Walker, announced today.

"Because of Dempsey's exorbitant demands it is impossible for any California promoter or group of promoters to do business with the heavyweight champion," Kearns said. "He wants $100,000 to sign a contract and a total of $750,000 before he steps into the ring against Wills."

Racquet Club Title Captured by Hinkle

Eugene M. Hinkle was returned the winner in the finals of the squash racquet tournament for the championship of the Racquet club yesterday. Hinkle defeated David M. Key, 15-10, 15-12, 18-14, to win the title.

Julie Radice's basket in the final seconds of play clinched the victory for Eastern High over the Catholic University Freshmen five last night at the C. U. gym in a preliminary to the Catholic U.-Princeton game. The final score was 24 to 21, and it was the kind of a game that had the spectators on the edges of their seats all the time, neither team leading by more than three points at any stage of the game. At half time Eastern led, 12 to 11.

Elliott and Heeke were the luminaries for the Eastern quintet, while O'Donnell carried off the honors for the Frosh.

COLLEGE BOY WINS IN N. Y. TENNIS

Van Ryn Beats Dane to Advance in Indoor Play.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17 (By A. P.).—John Van Ryn, 21-year-old Princeton undergraduate of East Orange, N. J., reached the semifinal bracket in the national indoor tennis championships on the board courts of the Seventh Regiment armory today by defeating the veteran internationalist, Erik Worm, of Denmark, 6—0, 6—3.

Hunter, of New Rochelle; Vincent Richards, of Yonkers, N. Y., and William T. Tilden 2d, of Philadelphia, are the other quarter finalists.

Today's matches narrowed the field down to seven players and tomorrow will see the stars of the tournament battling for semifinal ranking. Borotra, 1925 indoor champion, faces his real test tomorrow when he meets Tilden, while Friday will see Richards facing Lacoste and Hunter opposing Brugnon.

Maurice Ferrier, of Switzerland, was the second international star to be cast into the discards today, bowing to the consistent stroking of Vincent Richards, 6—2, 6—1. HOFF BREAKS VAULT MARK ONCE MORE

Norwegian Star Runs Second in Middle Distance Event.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17 (By A. P.).—In a brilliant exhibition of his all-around prowess, Charley Hoff, of Norway, tonight placed second to Vincent Lally, of New York, in a 600 meter invitation run after breaking his own world indoor pole vault record at the Norwegian turn society track meet.

Hoff was beaten by only two yards as Lally finished with a great burst of speed after the European runner had set the early pace.

The time for the event, 1:24, was recognized as a record, the distance never having been run previously indoors. The distance is approximately 660 yards, the mark for which is 1:21 1-5.

LESS than an hour previously he had raised his pole vault record to 12 feet 4 inches, in a single leap.

De Hart Hubbard, former University of Michigan star, equaled the world indoor record of 7 seconds for 65 yards in outsprinting a field of 5 contestants in the second feature event.

Overcoming long handicaps allotted to 21 other runners, Willie Ritola, of the Finnish-American A. C., scratch starter, won the two-mile race in 9 minutes, 24 seconds.

Baseball Prospects Are Bright at Devitt

Despite the fact that only four of last year's players will be available, Devitt Prep is looking forward to a successful baseball season. Coach Banfield is particularly satisfied because two of the quartet of veterans to return comprise his star battery of last year, Corson and Carmichael. The others are Capt. Roy Haney and Briggs, both outfielders. Three experienced newcomers are Fisher, former Gonzaga player; Kennedy, from Michigan; Trilling, captain-elect of the football team, and Dannemiller, with the Central High.

The tentative schedule follows:

April 7—Business High, home; 12, Briarly Hall, home; 21, Georgetown Frosh, away; 24, Navy Plebes, away; 28, Episcopal, away; 30, Georgetown Prep, away.

May 15—Briarly Hall, away; 19, Business High.

Nassau Five Trails From Start

Foley, Harvey, Long Pile Up Points for Brooklanders.

Tiger Substitutes Are Unable to Halt Scoring.

By JUNO KINERK.

THE young and speedy basketball team of Catholic university wrote a glorious chapter in the annals of the athletic history of that institution last night when it overwhelmed Princeton, 37 to 25, before a capacity crowd in the Brookland gymnasium.

The Tiger fought with his accustomed ferocity, but his best was insufficient to stem the victory-mad Maroon and Black players, who outplayed their scrappy opponents in every department of the game.

Al Wittmer, the Princeton coach, threw substitute after substitute into the game in a vain endeavor to stem the tide against his team, but the Catholic university tossers were not to be denied and continued to pile up the points.

Foley, Harvey and Long carried off the scoring honors for the locals, but O'Donnell and Carney played no less brilliantly and were integral factors in the victory. O'Donnell's floor game and passing was of the highest order, while Carney was a whale of a defensive player.

LOEB, who has starred for Princeton all year, was practically valueless and was jerked from the game after scoring but one field goal during his 20-minute sojourn on the court. However, the visitors uncorked two great players in Evans and Foot.

Evans, besides playing a brilliant defensive game until ejected for four personal fouls, made five beautiful shots from scrimmage. He clicked in four in a row in the first half from near the middle of the court without missing a single attempt.

O'Donnell put Catholic U. out in front at the start with a pretty basket on a beautiful pass from Harvey. Evans tied it up with one of his specials, but then Catholic University pulled out in front and led, 10 to 4, about the middle of the period. Foley continued his remarkable shooting and at half time the locals were ahead, 23 to 16, Evans and Foot leading the Princeton offense.

With the resumption of play Foot pulled the Tiger up to a 23-to-19 score with a field goal and a foul throw. This was the closest Princeton ever got, for the C. U. team unloosed a magnificent scoring spree here that put the game on ice. Five two-pointers went zooming through the hoop before Princeton again was able to score.

Carr Smith Is Loose; Anybody Want Him?

Winston-Salem, N. C., Feb. 17.—Who owns Carr Smith, an outfielder who broke into professional baseball with the Raleigh club of the Piedmont league a few years ago and was sold to Washington, of the American league, and two years ago was traded to the Cleveland Indians.

Last year the manager of the Indians released Smith to the local club, with the understanding that Cleveland should have the privilege of buying him back. The owners of the Twins, it is understood, paid $500 for Carr and it was expected that the Cleveland manager wanted him back, though it has been discovered that no check has been received for Smith's services.

As matters stand it is contended that the outfielder is the property of the Winston-Salem club. A letter has been sent to Secretary Farrell asking for a ruling on the matter.

CHICAGO IS COLLYER'S BEST BET AT MIAMI TRACK

Derby Horse Picked in Feature

Gentry Pair Favored to Capture Race at Tampa.

Escarra Is Expected to Win Fourth at Jefferson.

By BERT E. COLLYER.

CHICAGO.

Here is one of the most promising derby colts in training at Miami. Those recent efforts with older horses were in the nature of preps for the big doings in the fifth race today. Commissions have been placed here for weeks, and the word comes direct from the feed box to unbelt. Any old price will be a good one.

Another pickler is to be dragged out of the vat in the day's opener. POLLYCARP is the name of the beast. Frank Kearns gave him a secret prep at New Orleans before shipping to the Florida track.

LEATHERWOOD appears to have been dropped in a nice spot in the second likely to pay box car figures.

GRACE MAYERS appears to be a stand-out in the third.

The 2-year-old race appears a tight fit between Widener's LAETARE and Whitney's BUNTHORNE; the former seems to have the early foot.

FREDERICK RAPHAEL figures slightly the best in the sixth.

CAROLS' last race was a humdinger and he should have little trouble in repeating in the seventh.

Small fields and a good class of horses are carded for the inaugural at the New Tampa track. The Bud Gentry entry, BRADLEY'S TONEY, and JUST DAVID, appears to have the day's feature sewed up.

KIT CARSON in the fourth looks like a kick in the slats; was given a special prep at New Orleans.

NAYARIT in the third is another sleeper from New Orleans.

Over at New Orleans, Andy Blakeley is going to cut loose that gray streak ESCARRA, which he has been nursing along for some time. This gray horse has been working three-quarters in nothing, and the fourth race is just the spot for him.

The boys who handle the split-second watches give fair warning to have a couple of megs riding on LANG SYNE in the first race. This gelding has been outworking himself.

LAST ONE is best of the ordinary lot in the second. His recent race was the best he has shown in a long time.

FANTOCHE, scratched on several occasions, has found a spot where he can win off by himself.

Last, and by no means least, string with Sammy Holman's WILL WELLS in the sixth; ran an excellent race the other day, his first start in many months.

Yesterday my big horse just rolled home.
Boon Companion, Won, $13.80
I just missed a LIMIT WIN PARLAY when my other horse, AGNATE, ran third at $5.00. My NEW CONNECTIONS at Miami sure are making good. TRAVELLER WON, $10.50; CONFIDENTE WON, $12.60; OLD SLIP WON, $8.60, are among the recent WINNERS they have sent me. Now, men, my new connections advised me by long distance last night of something out of the ordinary for today. It is an opportunity that comes once in a great while and it is the BEST that they have ever sent me. They say DON'T HESITATE, both horses are shoo-ins, take the rubber off the bank roll and let the whole works ride. Men, never before have I been so absolutely sure of putting over a big LIMIT WIN PARLAY
as I am today, and I want you, one and all, to get in on it. My two wires, both sold for only $3.00, are for sale only at

WONDER FIVE WINS FROM KNIGHTS

"Mickey" McDonald and Banta Star in 24-19 Victory.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Feb. 17.—The Holman Wonders, the pick of Washington's scholastic basketball players, managed and directed by Joe Holman, showed the R. E. Knight's Store five, otherwise known as the Stantons, how the game is played in the high school series, at the same time registering a 24-19 victory here tonight.

"Mickey" McDonald, whose sensational play aided Central High in the defense of its title, proved thoroughly familiar with the game as played among the independents. He and Bill Banta evaded the Knights' defense for three field goals each.

At the end of the first half, the Wonders were comfortably ensconced in a 15-8 lead. Upon the resumption of play, Pettit, the only Alexandria player on the local team, performed in brilliant fashion in aiding the Knights to reduce their lead. Sweeney's shooting kept his team in the running. He scored three times from the floor.

Boon Companion, hard urged, took command going to the first turn and continued gamely throughout. Overall slipped through on the inside the last quarter and closed gamely. Buck faltered under pressure. Golden Spire went past the stand in front, was taken extremely wide and was last going into the back stretch. Brainstorm was unable to improve his position.

Latter, hard urged throughout, faltered as if short. Leonard G. almost touched the outer rail entering the stretch. He finished with a belated rush. Valley Light also swung wide into the stretch. Inver Maid was taken up after going a quarter mile.

SINGLE POINT WINS FOR GONZAGA

G. U. Freshmen Lose Second Game of Season.

THE Georgetown Freshmen fell before the Gonzaga five yesterday, 25-24, for the second time this season. Incidentally, Gonzaga is the only team to defeat the Freshmen this year.

The I Streeters hopped off to a 7-5 lead at the initial quarter, but the "Frosh" jumped to the front, 18-13, at the first half. With the resumption of play the Georgetown team increased its advantage, and at the start of the final period was leading, 23-18. Here a determined rally by Coach Simondinger's charges tied the score, and with only one minute of play a technical foul was called on Berry. Johnny Bozek shot. No sooner than the leather had dropped through the net than the whistle ending the fray was blown.

CAPT. "BUM" ENRIGHT and Johnny Bozek shone on the offense for the Gonzagans, while "Tubba" Farrell did the bulk of the defensive work. Scott and Walker were the heaviest point getters for the Freshmen, each being responsible for six of the team's points.

The contest was filled with thrills and sensational shooting, and was easily the best game played at the I street gymnasium this year.

Gonzaga.	Position.	Geo'town Frosh.

Western High Lights Lose to Eastern, 27-18

The Eastern High Lightweights defeated the Western Lightweights, 27 to 18, yesterday afternoon. Cappelli and Reid were the luminaries for the Lincoln Parkers, while Walcott was high scorer for the losers.

Eastern Preps Win 20th Straight, 30-18

Capital Preps are the twentieth straight victim to fall before the powerful Eastern Preps. With every player scoring from the field it was an easy matter to run up a 30-to-18 count. Lawson and Zambreny were the principal scorers.

RACQUET CLUB TOURNAMENT DRAWING LUMINARIES

Squash Stars Gather Here For Play

National Tournament Begins Saturday at Racquet Club.

Entries Are Received From Nine Cities, Two Colleges.

WITH many of the visiting players expected to check in today for preliminary workouts so that they may familiarize themselves with the local courts, the first round of matches for the national individual and team championships of the United States Squash Racquets association will be played at the Racquet club Saturday morning. The first match will be played at 9 o'clock.

Entries in both club and individual championships have been made by New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Boston, Buffalo, Chicago, Detroit, Providence, Pittsburgh and by the local club. Harvard and Yale both will enter teams to contest for the club championships, being prohibited by the collegiate rules from entering for the individual championship.

W. Palmer Dixon, who recently won the metropolitan championship, is the defending national champion, and is regarded as having a good chance of retaining the title, though he will meet with spirited competition. Dixon formerly played with the Harvard team, but now is associated with the New York club.

AMONG those who are accorded an excellent chance of winning the singles title are two well-known tennis stars, Wallace F. Johnson, of Philadelphia, and Eric Hedstrom, of Buffalo. Both are expert squash racqueters and may go far in the present tournament.

Others who are likely contenders for the title are R. A. Powers, Boston, Canadian 1925 champion; L. Balliere, Baltimore, the Maryland State champion; Frank White, Pittsburgh, national champion in 1911; F. B. Read, of Providence; Tom Bourke and B. H. Paddock, of Detroit, and S. P. Clark, vice president of the United States Racquets association, and J. de V. Keefe, a member of the United States team that went to England in 1925, both of Philadelphia.

David M. Key and Eugene M. Hinkle will represent Washington in the individual championships and both are likely contenders for the crown. Key is the present District champion and a former star on the Harvard team, while Hinkle was captain of the United States team that invaded England in 1925 and also is a former Harvard star, having captained the Crimson racqueters in 1923.

THE personnel of the Washington team that will take part in the club championships was announced last night as follows: F. G. Blair, C. P. Stone, H. L. deSibour, A. Hellen and T. L. Block.

The secret of Mike Martin's success as a trainer is his ability to get work out of his men without them realizing that he is doing it. He gave a fine example of his craftiness in this respect at this morning's drill, when a volley ball net was found waiting for the players when they reported at Plant field.

Two teams immediately were chosen, Al Schact captaining one, with Nick Altrock, Fred Marberry, Hal Smith, Lefty Thomas and Arthur Humphrey on his side, opposing Manager Harris' forces, including Bennie Tate, Curley Ogden, Willard Morrell, Ray Joyce and Larry Schacht. Three fast games were played, with Buck's team winning the odd one. It took the first easily, rallied for 9 straight points to land the second, 21 to 20, and then was beaten in the third, 31 to 18.

FOLLOWING the volley ball contests, all of the pitchers warmed up, did a little pepper fielding, took a hike around the field and called it a day. Manager Harris did his usual stick and fielding stunts, and ever so often drifted behind one of the hurlers to see that he was not putting too much on the ball.

Following the scheme of little, but steady, advancement each day the flingers are allowed to let out some, but are closely watched to see that they do not go too strongly.

Marberry and Ogden form what Mike calls his "elephant squad," and this pair came in for a little extra work, facing each other sitting down for a 15-minute catch with the heavy medicine ball. This form of exercise puts into play practically all of the muscles of the body, according to Trainer Martin.

Weather conditions again were ideal this morning and perspiration was dripping off all the players before they had toiled more than a few minutes. The sun was hot, but a cool, gentle breeze kept old Sol from making things too uncomfortable.

Brother Al spent considerable time this morning with Larry Schacht in the hope of improving the latter's form. The youngster does not seem to know just how to handle his feet to the best advantage when on the hill and his "big brother" has promised to teach him.

Southern Bowlers Leave for Match

A picked team from the Southern Railway Clerks Duckpin league will leave tomorrow night for Roanoke, Va., to engage the clerk bowlers of the Norfolk & Western Railway Co. in the first half of their annual match on Saturday. The second half will be rolled here on March 20.

The team will be composed of the following: T. H. Spencer, H. Streiter, C. C. Orme, F. S. Blaisdell, J. W. McKay and Capt. F. H. Surguay.

Two Sets of 400 Rolled by Burtner

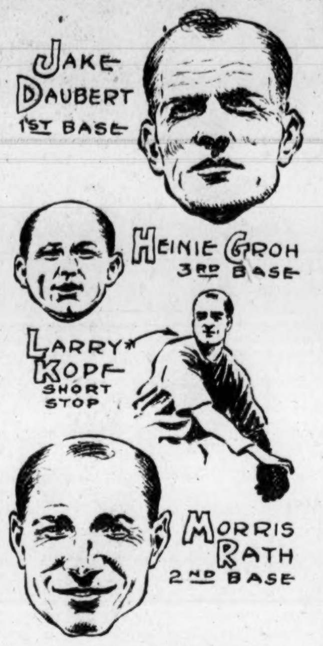
H. K. "Happy" Burtner, rolling with the Washington Centennial five of the Masonic league in its annual tournament now in progress at Convention hall, broke the District's all-event tournament record when he toppled the maples for a 1,156 total in nine games. This is one pin better than the 1,155 rolled by Arthur Urban on the King Pin drives in 1924 in the first tournament of the Capital City Duckpin association.

Burtner rolled his team and doubles events Tuesday night, getting 416 in the first and 340 in the second. He came back with a 400 set in his singles last night. This is the first time a bowler has registered two 400 sets in a tournament.

STANTONS CHALLENGE.

The Stantons have failed to complete their schedule for the season, and wish to book more clubs. Dave Keppel at Franklin 4647 is the manager. Any team wishing a chance at his tribe, may do so by calling between 6 and 7 o'clock.

Reds Boasted Bald-Headed Infield in 1919



By AL DEMAREE
(Former Pitcher New York Giants)

IT takes an unusual team to win a pennant, and the Cincinnati Reds that copped the rag in 1919 were unusual in several respects. They were the first aggregation in modern baseball history able to bring a pennant to Cincinnati and also had the only bald-headed infield in captivity. There have been many bald-headed ball players in the game, but never before or since have four of them been gathered together under one tent.

Of this famous skinned infield only one player remains in the big show. Heine Groh is still with the New York Giants. Morris Rath has retired; Kopf is playing independent ball, and Jake Daubert, one of the greatest ball players and finest characters in the game, has passed into the great beyond.

CLARKE GETS CHANCE.

Earl Clarke, local sandlotter, leaves for Richmond March 15. He is being given a tryout by the Virginia league club.

High Run of 6 Is Made In Billiard Tourney

In addition to getting two high runs of 6, Murray established a record when he defeated Turton, 35 to 28, in 49 innings, in the three-cushion billiard tournament at the Lewis and Krauss parlor last night. Turton's best single effort was four.

Turton also took part in the other match of the night's play, defeating Lamson, 35 to 29, in 59 innings. In this game Turton carried off the high run honors with a cluster of 5, one better than Lamsen's best.

Local Gunners Stage Tournament Saturday

The Washington Gun club will hold a registered tournament Saturday on its grounds adjoining the Potomac Electric Power Co. plant on Benning's road. The events which will include ten-man and five-man races, are open to all amateurs. Shooters in the team races must be boni fide members of the club for which they compete.

Anacostia Eagle Five Loses Ardent Rooter

The Anacostia Eagles have called off their practice scheduled for tonight. The Eagles are mourning the death of Manager Bernie Peacock's father. Mr. Peacock was a close follower of senior champs, and his death leaves the "birds" without their most ardent fan.

The victors opened an early attack that was never endangered by the Dodgers' offensive.

NAVY FIVE WINS FROM VIRGINIA

Craig Leads Attack for Annapolis in 45-26 Victory.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 17.—Midshipmen basketball players found themselves in a return to form today and easily administered defeat to University of Virginia, 46 to 25. Navy used understudies during the major portion of the second half, otherwise a larger score would have been piled up, for the Southerners were able to hold the recruits pretty well in check and pulled their own score up to a more appreciable figure after trailing in the first half, 23 to 8.

The Cavaliers, who are now on a road trip, appeared to be out of form. They showed only flashes of coordinated team play. Their passing game was poor compared to that of the Middies, and the defensive play of the latter also was stronger. But there was brilliant individual work on the part of the Southerners. Mead, Holland and Tyler, who accounted for nearly all of the points scored for their team.

New York, Feb. 17 (By A. P.).—Jack Delaney and Mike McTigue, rival contenders for Paul Berlenbach's light heavyweight title, both signed today for a 12-round match at Madison Square Garden on March 12 with the understanding that the winner will meet the champion.

J. FRANCO TO SHIFT.

The Monroe Soccer team expects to obtain the services of J. Franco next season. He is playing with Fort Myer this season and leads the local league in scoring.

The world's O. K. when you smoke P. A.

LOOK for the silver lining in every P. A. smoke-cloud. Notice how the little old world takes on a rosier tint when you pick P. A. for a pal. For a fact, Men, Prince Albert holds options on jimmy-pipe joy in every land. It's got a half-nelson on pipe-pleasure, and no mistake.

There's no deep, dark secret about the why of all this . . . P. A. is great tobacco. Time-tested. Tongue-tested. Mild as a May morning, cool as a breeze off the water, P. A. can't tamper with your tongue or pester your palate. (The Prince Albert process cuts out bite and parch.)

When that cool, fragrant smoke percolates up the pipe-stem, troubles take to the tall timber. Pipe-peeves vanish in a P. A. smoke-screen. You're sitting on top of the world . . . and the view is simply grand. Just never was a tobacco like good old P. A.

Many a man who thought he never could smoke a pipe is now a loyal P. A. fan. You see, the tobacco makes all the difference in the world. Right now, head for the nearest shop where they hand out P. A. sunshine in tidy red tins. Get next to some really friendly tobacco.

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

NEW FINANCING CAUSES LULL IN BOND TRADING

Rails, Although Irregular, Make Best Showing; Coppers Gain.

FOREIGN GROUP IS QUIET

New York, Feb. 17 (By the Associated Press).—Investment interest in the $125,000,000 of new financing which appeared in the market today dulled the edge of bond trading, although prices held fairly firm. Orders continued to flow in for the $75,000,000 of New York city securities opened to subscription yesterday, while the wide demand for $50,000,000 of General Motors Acceptances Corporation 5 per cent notes, offered today, caused a quick oversubscription of that issue.

Another interesting piece of financing has been scheduled for tomorrow, when a syndicate headed by Blair & Co. will offer $12,000,000 first mortgage fifteen-year 6 per cent bonds of the Otis Steel Co. at 98½ to yield 6.15 per cent. The proceeds will be used to refund about $8,750,000 outstanding 7½ and 8 per cent obligations, to liquidate bank indebtedness of approximately $1,000,000 and to furnish additional working capital. A $5,000,000 issue of Illinois highway 4 per cent bonds awarded to a group headed by the Guaranty Co. of New York will be offered tomorrow at 100 and interest.

Railroad liens made the best showing of any group of listed bonds, although price movements were not uniform. Buying interest was aroused in such issues as Lehigh Valley 4½s and 5s, Delaware & Hudson 5s and refunding 4½s and others in a position to be benefited by the settlement of the coal strike. Illinois Central issues also were higher.

Cross currents of trading resulted in marked irregularity in the industrial division. Copper bonds continued their recovery, but profit taking continued in oil, independent steel and local traction bonds.

Trading in foreign and United States government obligations was unusually quiet, although Japanese issues were strengthened slightly by the rise in yen to the highest level of the year.

Many projects involving new financing are under consideration, but few have reached the offering stage. Having failed to announce any stock financing at this time, the American Telephone Co. is expected to float a large bond issue in the spring. A $30,000,000 loan for Uruguay within the next month is one of the possibilities in the foreign field.

Bond Offering Planned By the Otis Steel Co.

New York, Feb. 17 (By A. P.).—Changes in the financial structure of the Otis Steel Co. were outlined here today with the announcement of bankers that a $12,000,000 issue of first-mortgage fifteen-year 6 per cent bonds of the company would be placed on sale tomorrow. The offering will be made through a syndicate headed by Blair & Co., Inc., the Chase Securities Corporation and the Union Trust Co. of Cleveland.

Proceeds will be used to refund approximately $8,750,000 outstanding 7½ and 8 per cent obligations to liquidate bank indebtedness of $1,000,000 and to furnish additional working capital. The new bonds will be priced at 98½ to yield 6.15 per cent.

Creation of a new issue of prior preference stock also is involved in the plan. Directors will propose to the stockholders an exchange of the existing preferred stock for the new preference stock on the basis of 1 1-3 shares of the new for one of the old. No public offering is contemplated.

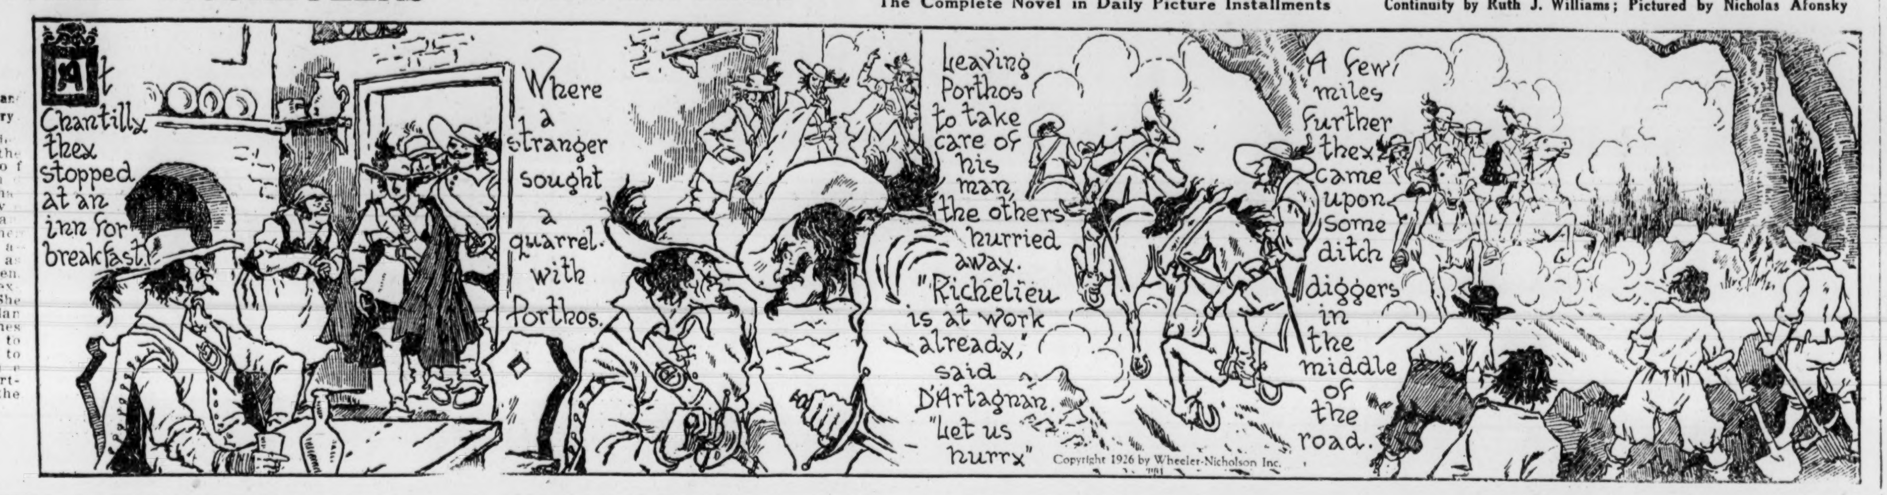
GREAT MYSTERY AND ADVENTURE SERIES
The Complete Novel in Daily Picture Installments

By ALEXANDER DUMAS
Continuity by Ruth J. Williams; Pictured by Nicholas Afonsky

Read this and follow the story

Richelieu hates the Queen of France and, learning that she gave Buckingham of England her twelve diamond studs as a love token, plots to expose her. She learns his plan and dispatches a messenger to Buckingham to return the studs. D'Artagnan is the messenger.



At Chantilly they stopped at an inn for breakfast.
Leaving Porthos to take care of his man, the others hurried away. "Richelieu is at work already," said D'Artagnan. "Let us hurry."

1924 Jordan Blue Boy Sport.

If you are looking for the sportiest car in the city regardless of price or size, here it is. Refinished in lacquer—pigskin brown, with chocolate fenders and running gear, it presents a striking appearance. It has all equipment, including a trunk on the rear for touring or outing. You will see this car on the street shortly, for the price of $975.00 cash, or $410.00 cash and $54.17 monthly for 12 months will place it in the hands of some one. We will trade your car.

1923 Dodge 4-Pass. Coupe

Looking for a business car? This one we can recommend very highly. Every one knows this car's record for service. It has been refinished in our shops and the interior is in velour, the rubber is fine and the motor will live up to the Dodge reputation. Priced very reasonably at $550.00, or if it suits you better, $240.00 cash and $30.00 per month for 12 months.

1924 Studebaker Bix Six Touring.

Repainted in blue lacquer in our own shops. Bought to sell at $700.00 and it's been slow moving. We claim for this one profit car the biggest bargain in the city and just to key this method of advertising we will sell it to the first buyer at $510.00 cash or $220.00 cash and $28.34 per month for 12 months. Trade anything on it, too.

1924 Hupmobile Touring.

Good paint, top and tires. Can't be beaten at $550.00, or $240.00 cash and $30.00 per month for 12 months.

A sterling value at $650, or if you prefer, $272.00 cash and $36.25 per month for 12 months.

1924 Ford Sedan.

An excellent little closed car in prime condition throughout at $295.00, or $129.00 cash and $20.00 monthly for 10 months.

1923 Hudson Sedan.

This car has had very little use. Has six wonderful tires, the paint is good and the upholstering is nice and clean—indicating that it is well worth $700.00, or still easier at $295.00 cash and $38.75 monthly, including all interest and fire and theft insurance.

1924 Reo Sedan.

Here's an excellent value. Five balloon tires, bumpers, front and rear, the interior is exceptionally clean and the mechanical condition is beyond comparison. Priced at $850.00, or still better, $355.000 cash and $47.50 per month for 12 months, takes care of all charges and the insurance for one year.

1923 Dodge Touring (High Hood)

A good, dependable used car with winter inclosure. It's a bargain at $360.00, or if you like, $158.00 cash and $20.00 per month for 12 months takes care of all the charges.

1924 Buick 4 Touring.

The famous valve-in-head motor, four-wheel brakes, excellent paint, top and tires; one of the best buys we have on the floor at $445.00 cash, or if more convenient, pay $188.00 cash and $25.00 per month for 12 months completes the deal.

1925 Hupmobile Eight Touring

This car is to be sold for an estate. Trimmed in hand crushed Spanish leather and tan duco paint, natural wood wheels, bumpers, front and rear, rear vision mirror, automatic windshield cleaner and the radiator has a nickel shell. Will move right out at $1,295.00, or if you prefer, $515.00 cash and $71.65 per month for 12 months. We will trade a small car.

1924 Rickenbacker Sedan.

The famous Ace car, with four-wheel brakes, disc wheels, good rubber, paint in good condition, and the interior has had wonderful care; the price is $700.00 for a quick buyer, or $295.00 cash and $38.75 monthly for one who takes his time.

WELL, THE CHINCHILLA AND THE SLOTH ARE FOUND THERE, TOMMY

STAFFORD REFUSES TO CONTINUE CASE

Attorney Who Got Postponement on Jury Discharge Plea Denied Change.

Justice Wendell P. Stafford, of criminal court 2, who granted one motion by Abner Siegal, an attorney, to continue a case until next month when a new jury will be drawn to try criminal cases, refused to grant a second of such motions by Siegal yesterday and allowed the attorney an exception.

Siegal stated that because the court had discharged one jury after it declined to convict a defendant in a narcotic case, the remaining jurors might be affected in such a manner as to prevent his client from obtaining a fair trial.

In refusing to continue the case yesterday Justice Stafford instructed the remaining jurors that they were not to allow themselves to be influenced by the court's act of discharging the jury in the narcotic case but were to render their verdicts according to the evidence in all cases. The court also stated that in his 26 years' experience as a trial justice he had only deemed it necessary on two occasions to discharge a jury before the term of service expired.

Last night at dinner the girl cried and told her mother she was going to end her troubles. She shut herself in. Her mother did not take the threat seriously, having heard them before, according to police.

Going upstairs to soothe her daughter, Mrs. Cronan found her lying semiconscious across a bed. An empty bottle of poison was on the floor. The Casualty hospital ambulance was summoned. Meanwhile Mrs. Cronan administered first aid. Dr. Larkins said the girl probably would recover.

Inspection of Permanent Flag Staffs in F Street to Be in Afternoon.

The Fine Arts commission faces a busy program today, beginning with a consideration, in meeting, of many matters of great importance to the District and ending with a personal inspection of permanent metal flagstaffs which are to be demonstrated by veterans on F street between Twelfth and Thirteenth streets northwest at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

One of the first items on the commission's docket is a study of the beautification of the waterfront. In this matter it will have before it a survey of Washington's river commerce made by Maj. James O'Connor, United States engineer for the District, with a view to showing in how far the river front improvements should be for beauty and how far for utility. It is planned to beautify the river front rather than spend money for furnishing great terminal facilities.

The commission will then study the expenditure of $3,000,000 for the extension of Walter Reed hospital buildings so that the additions may be artistically acceptable. It also will study the plans for the medical building to be erected at Howard university and will go into the question of the size of the figures for the Ericsson memorial being erected in west Potomac park.

Inspections in Afternoon.

These matters will be taken up at the commission meeting this morning along with several other items referred to the body by various agencies. In the afternoon they, with the District commissioners and representatives of veterans, will inspect 30 permanent metal flagstaffs set up in sockets in the one block along F street.

The world war veterans who are backing the plan to put uniform permanent flagstaffs along the prominent Capital streets, have arranged an impressive, yet simple ceremony to demonstrate today to the arts commission the beauty of the uniformity of decorations and to the District commissioners that they do not interfere with traffic.

A group of Boy Scouts will raise 30 flags of uniform size on the 30 flagstaffs simultaneously. It will then be demonstrated that if the plan is adopted, the merchant in front of whose store the sockets are placed can be responsible for the staff and flag and set them up on a moment's notice.

Army Officer Seeks To Prevent Pay Cut

J. Raymond McCarl, comptroller general; Dwight F. Davis, Secretary of War; Kenzie W. Walker, chief of finance, and Carl Halla, finance department of the army, were ordered yesterday to appear February 26 by Justice Frederick L. Siddons in equity court to show cause why they should not be enjoined from deducting $35 a month from the pay envelope of Lieut. Arthur W. Pence, of the engineer corps of the army, who has been assigned to a post in the Philippine islands.

The deductions in the case of Lieut. Pence are virtually the same as the deductions involved in the cases of 60 or more naval officers who successfully fought Mr. McCarl in the courts. Attorneys Ansell and Wilmeth appeared for Pence.

Lawyer Would Change Suit Against Weeks

Charles B. Brewer, former special assistant to the Attorney General, who sued John W. Weeks, former Secretary of War, to recover half of a sum of $1,102,000 for himself and the other half for the United States, will ask Justice Hoehling in circuit court tomorrow for permission to amend his original bill.

Attorneys Hogan and Davidge, counsel for Mr. Weeks, filed a demurrer to the original bill and the arguments on this demurrer are scheduled to be heard tomorrow. The suit grows out of the sale of seven Austrian ships to Carden and Herd, New York brokers, in 1917 and the subsequent allowance made to these brokers.

Dr. Wiley Addresses Metric Association

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, pure food expert, was the principal speaker at a luncheon yesterday given under the auspices of the District of Columbia section of the Metric association at the Congress Hall hotel. The purpose was to create interest in the bill introduced in Congress by Representative Fred A. Britten, of Illinois, providing for the introduction of the metric system in buying and selling by January 1, 1935.
